This charmingly entertaining and instructive book, the first work of its author, written with a freshness, vigor and originality hardly equalled by any of his later works, had a phenomenal sale for some years after its publication, and has sold steadily ever since, finding new readers each year. There has been a demand for some time for another edition in place of the familiar old octavo. This new edition will meet a long-felt want. Its size and beautiful new illustrations and handsome binding will make it an attractive holiday gift-book as well as a desirable library set.

Full olive or old rose color silk, or white cloth with cloth jacket, gilt tops, in cloth box . . . . . $ 6.00
Half levant morocco, gilt, gilt tops 10.00

A superb edition in two crown octavo volumes, printed from the plates of the well-known Burrows Brothers' edition, with all the half-tone and wood-cut illustrations, and the addition of thirty new and beautiful photogravures from original photographs. Much time has been spent in gathering the pictures, and no village, hamlet, stream, or other point of interest has been overlooked. The charm of this delightful book will be greatly increased by these reproductions of the veritable scenes of the story. John Ridd and the beautiful Lorna, lively Tom Faggus, Jeremy Stickles, and the outlaw Doones, all seem more real as we look at the Bagworthy and Lynn streams, at Porlock and Brendon and Lynmouth. Legend and fact are so intermingled it is not easy to separate them, and as we linger and look and read the whole seems real. We have been fortunate in securing for a frontispiece an exquisite ideal head of Lorna Doone, from an original by W. Wontner. There have been many editions of this famous book, but the general verdict is that ours is as near perfect as can be made.

The many readers and admirers of this beguiling story of adventure will be glad to know that it is to be had in illustrated form.

No illustrated edition has ever been made until now, and the charming and picturesque bits of the little-changing Devon scenery, the background of the story's beginning and close, cannot fail to make more real the word-pictures of the author. To give variety and interest to its embellishment, carefully reproduced copies of fine old portraits of Queen Elizabeth, Raleigh, Spenser, Drake and Grenville have been added.

No other of Dickens's stories, and scarcely any story in the whole range of fiction, has the perennial interest and vitality of the Christmas Carol. Rip Van Winkle. BY WASHINGTON IRVING. With twenty-four photogravure illustrations from original photographs of Kaatskill Mountain Scenery by Ernest Edwards, and text illustrations by Frank T. Merrill.

1 vol., small quarto, size 7 x 9, fancy cloth binding, gilt top, $3.00

The public never seems to weary of this romantic old-world legend adapted and localized by Irving. Starting away back at the dawn of historic time in the far East, the story has travelled Westward, varying in form and habitat, but no version has quite the charm of Irving's. Familiar to a host of readers through the many editions of the author, and brought constantly to public attention by the wonderful impersonations of Joseph Jefferson as the hero of the story, it can never cease to be full of absorbing interest. The series of photographs which are here reproduced for the first time for the embellishment of this edition, are the spoils of many summer vacation rambles in the picturesque Kaatskill region. The scenes chosen not alone faithfully illustrate the story, but are beautiful as pictures.

This delightful book makes the third volume in our series, "My Lady's Classics." It contains about eighty half-tone or pen-and-ink sketches made for the book by Miss Ethel Isadore Brown. The story especially lends itself to illustration, bringing in, as it does, the rugged and picturesque scenery of the western coast of Scotland. By those who cannot travel, much of the charm of the beautiful coast will be found in William Black's story and the wealth of illustration now for the first time combined with it. All who have followed in the footsteps of Sheila and Lavender and Ingram, or sailed in their wake, cannot fail to take pleasure in having brought vividly to memory many delightful hours and days.

Through Evangeline's Country. By Jeannette A. Grant.

The story of Evangeline and the sorrows and sufferings of the Acadians is a theme of perennial interest. The country itself is beautiful, and now, after nearly a century and a half, tourists, increasing in number each year, delight in the trip, and eagerly read over the story of the hapless people, whose industrious descendants have made a garden of the region. The author is thoroughly familiar with the country and the history of its people, and has pleasantly blended the historic and descriptive, and with the aid of a series of admirable views has made a book that should meet wtih a pleasant reception and a ready sale.

2 vols., 32mo, half levant, gilt tops, per set 6.00

Mr. Knapp's special errand to Japan, — his long residence there, and his frequent returns in later years, have given him peculiar advantages for observation and comment on the land which still continues in its habit of surprising the rest of the world.

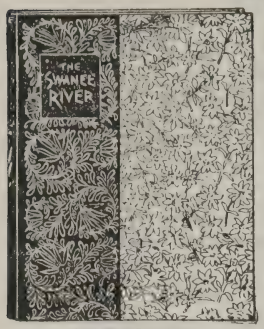
The scope of the book includes a study of the history, religions, language, art, life and habits of a people who could not be more unlike ourselves were they located on another planet.

Though written in a thoroughly appreciative spirit, it avoids the undiscriminating praise which has characterized so many works on Japan, — and while covering well a ground which has become somewhat familiar, it presents many fresh points of view, and furnishes much information heretofore inaccessible to the ordinary reader.

Romance and Teutonic Switzerland.

BY WILLIAM D. MCCRACKAN, M. A., author of "The Rise of the Swiss Republic."

2 vols., 32mo., cloth, gilt tops, per set $1.50



A new work on Switzerland, in two volumes. The first volume covers that portion of Switzerland where the French and Italian languages are spoken, and the second the German-speaking Cantons. The author is well fitted to write upon the subject, having made it his special study during many years of residence in the country. It has been his aim to picture the real Switzerland and its people as they are, divested of the glamour of romance. His book is neither a guide-book, nor the old-fashioned routine book of travel, made up of transcripts from diaries or hastily written letters to indulgent friends. It is rather a series of individual sketches, covering not only the salient points of attraction, but many places of interest out of the beaten track of the average tourist.

Dainty Gift Books.

The Golden Treasury of American Songs and Lyrics.

Chosen and edited by FREDERIC LAWRENCE KNOWLES.

1 vol., cloth, printed on deckle-edge hand-made paper . . $1.25
1 vol., half calf . . 2.50
1 vol., full levant morocco . . . 4.00

By special arrangement with Messrs. Houghton, Mifflin & Co. and other copyright owners, Mr. Knowles has had the widest scope in making his selections from the works of all the great American poets, including Longfellow, Whittier, Lowell, Bryant, etc., etc., and his compilation, gathering as it does into one volume the choicest and most representative works of both the major and minor poets of the land, will make this volume practically indispensable both in libraries and schools. In a word, "The Golden Treasury of American Songs and Lyrics" is to American poetry what Palgrave's "Golden Treasury" is to British poetry.

Songs Ysame.

By ANNIE FELLOWS-JOHNSTON AND ALBION FELLOWS-BACON.

1 vol., crown 16mo, cloth . . . $1.25
1 vol., crown 16mo, half calf . . . 2.50

A notable critic who has seen the MSS. of these poems, pronounces them to be of a high order of merit, and it is prophesied that this book of verse will bring to both writers an even wider circle of readers and friends than her successful prose stories have already brought to Mrs. Johnston. Those who read and delighted in the "Little Colonel" and "Big Brother" will be sure to welcome "Sister Songs."

No pains or expense has been spared to give the exquisite verse an attractive setting. It is printed on a fine deckle-edge laid paper, made especially for the book, and the striking, yet delicate, binding is strongly in keeping with the charm of the verse.

Cap and Gown. Second series; a selection of college verse of the past five years, chosen and arranged by FREDERIC LAWRENCE KNOWLES.

1 vol., crown 16mo, cloth, gilt top $1.25

This is a companion volume to our successful "Cap and Gown," first series, published in 1892, and well and favorably known to the trade since then. If anything, the new volume is an advance over the old in the spirit and charm of the selections and in the manufacture of the book. A special feature is that, in addition to the regular edition, we have made a special edition for the adherents of each of the prominent colleges, these editions being bound in the colors of the various colleges, the cover designs showing a fine effect of college banners and flags.

The book is printed on a special hand-made deckle-edge laid paper, and is in every way a triumph of artistic book-making, with a photogravure frontispiece drawn especially for the book by Frank T. Merrill.

Special editions have been bound for the following colleges:

Harvard.	University of Michigan.
Yale.	Smith.
Pr nceton.	Brown.
University of Pennsylvania.	Cornell.

Other special editions will follow.

Even the smell of the college pipe is present." — Boston Journal.

Cap and Gown. First Series. Selected by J. L. Harrison.

The text of Cap and Gown comprises a selection of the best verse which has appeared in twenty-seven of the leading college journals during the past ten or fifteen years. As verse is an important feature of these publications, reflecting as it does the social side of college life, this little book commends itself to a wide range of readers. Not alone does it appeal to the college student of to-day, but also to those who in the busy whirl of affairs have not altogether forgotten the light-hearted gaiety and rollicking fun of their college days.

1 vol., square 16mo, ornamental cloth binding, gilt top . . $1.25

1 vol., square 16mo, Havana colored leather, flexible, round corners, gilt edges 2.50

This somewhat unique little volume of collected verse, gathered by Joseph Knight, is the result of many years' gleaning from a great variety of sources of all the best verse devoted to praise of the weed. It will be a matter of surprise to most readers to find how much has been written that is clever and bright on the theme of smoking. From the time of Raleigh and Spenser to the present day, not only the writers of lighter verse, but the more dignified of the poets have turned aside to sing of what one of the oldest of them called "The Plant of Great Renown."

Wild Flower Sonnets.

By EMILY SHAW FORMAN. With twelve illustrations from original drawings, by Abbott Graves.

1 vol., 16mo, fancy cloth and sateen, gilt top $1.00

A series of graceful and exquisite verses in praise of our familiar wild flowers. A well-known writer says of them, "I would to all the nine muses that our songsters and rhymsters could give us always something as pure as these sonnets. No one could have written them who did not comprehend nature. There is no mistake about the author's being a botanist, a lover of nature's accuracies; she has the skill of a collector, as well as the music of a singer, and the eye of a poet."

JOHN G. WHITTIER said: "Mrs. Forman gets very near to nature, as if she were a part of it. She sees beauty in 'the meanest flower that blows,' and knows how to reproduce it for other eyes."

The Shadow of a Crime. A Cumbrian Romance. By Hall Caine, author of "The Manxman," "The Deemster," etc., with twelve full-page illustrations in half-tone.

"There is not a character that does not stand out clearly and distinctly as a living and natural figure. The plot is strong, the descriptions vivid, and the incidents striking and dramatic."
— Milwaukee Journal.

"Few writers picture the woes of life, its incidents, accidents, and the misunderstandings that come to real people more graphically than Hall Caine. It would be in vain to attempt any synopsis of this "Cumbrian romance." It is more a psychological than a historical story, and yet in the background the author introduces interesting history, and reveals the novel methods of administering justice and jurisprudence in Cumberland in the ancient days." — Chicago Inter-Ocean.

"It is a character study of a high order of merit, and one which exercises a strong effect upon the reader. English critics contrast it with 'Lorna Doone,' and the Saturday Review considers Ralph Ray a stronger character than John Ridd — an opinion in which many may share." — New York World.

Mr. McCrackan, with cosmopolitan instinct, takes the whole world for his source of material in this new work. It has been his aim to place these idyls, or little pictures, upon the literary page as a painter blocks in his sketches upon canvas. The underlying world problem is suggested, not explained. The reader is left to divine and guess. In a sense, therefore, this book is distinctly impressionistic. It is often allegorical. Its ideas are set forth by symbols. Its characteristic quality is the art of leaving those things unsaid which the imagination of the reader can supply $0.50

The Starling. By Norman Macleod, D. D. With four half-tone illustrations.

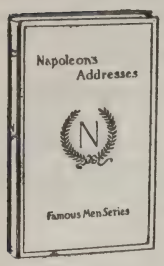
With the widespread interest in everything Scotch, stimulated by the remarkable success of recent stories of Scottish life by Barrie and Crockett and Ian Maclaren, it seems altogether opportune to reissue this well-known story of Dr. Macleod's. It is safe to say that no work of any recent Scottish author can equal this powerful and touching story . . . $0.50

Cavalleria Rusticana, or Under the Shadow of Etna.

Translated from the Italian of Giovanni Verga. By Nathan Haskell Dole.

Giovanni Verga stands at present as unquestionably the most prominent of the Italian novelists. His supremacy in the domain of the short story and in the wider range of the romance is recognized both at home and abroad. The present volume contains a selection from the most dramatic and characteristic of his Sicilian tales. Verga is himself a native of Sicily, and his knowledge of that wonderful country, with its poetic and yet superstitious peasantry, is absolute. "Jeli the Herdsman" is perhaps the best of all his short stories; it has a strange idyllic beauty that is only intensified by the tragedy at the end. "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "La Lupa" have been chosen as the themes of two successful operas. In "Gramigna," Verga gives his literary creed, and exemplifies it marvellously. Such pathos, humor, variety, and dramatic quality are rarely met in a single volume . . . $0.50

Arne. A Sketch of Norwegian Country Life. Translated from the Norwegian of Björnstjerne Björnson.



This charming idyl of Norwegian life, the early work of its distinguished author, whose career as poet, dramatist, and patriot have brought him into world-wide prominence, has long been out of print. Its simplicity and beauty and exquisite quality has never been excelled by any of its author's later work, and justifies its issuance at this time. $0.50

Break o' Day Tales. By Frank West Rollins.

1 vol., 32mo, dainty cloth, tinted cloth $0.50

Half a dozen bright little stories, the first published by the author. They are the fruit of many an early morning hour's work, mainly taken up as a recreation or amusement by a busy man of affairs. They are bright, clever, and original in plot and treatment, and worthy of a wide reading.

Cosy Corner Series.

Memories of the Manse. By ANNE BREADALBANE.

Illustrated, ... $0.50

Before the present revival in things Scottish, depicted so delightfully in "The Stickit Minister" and "Beside the Bonnie Brier Bush," this faithful picture of Scotch life and character was written. Its author lived among the scenes she so lovingly and truthfully describes; and all its humor and pathos, and grim severity and sternness, were familiar to her. It is no fancy sketch the author gives, but a truthful story well told.

Thompson Hall. By ANTHONY TROLLOPE, . $0.50

A Provence Rose. By LOUISA DE LA RAME (OUIDA), ... $0.50

In Distance and in Dream. By M. F. SWEETSER.

16mo, cloth binding, ... $0.50

A story of immortality, treating with profound insight of the connection between the life which now is and the life which is to come. It is daring in conception, quaint in diction, and singularly beautiful in conclusion. It cannot fail to prove a source of consolation to many bereaved hearts, and a suggestion of bright hope to thousands of others.

Will o' the Mill. By ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON. Illustrated by Amy Sacker.

16mo, ... $0.50

An allegorical story by this inimitable and versatile writer. It has hitherto been included with other stories quite different in character. With less dramatic quality and a somewhat sober vein, it has been overshadowed by his other work. Its rare poetic quality, its graceful and delicate fancy, its strange power and fascination, justify its separate publication, as it must surely in time become a classic.

1 vol., 12mo, cloth, illustrated $1.00
1 vol., " " " Library edition 1.50

Beautifully illustrated with more than one hundred text and full-page illustrations of Holy Land scenery.

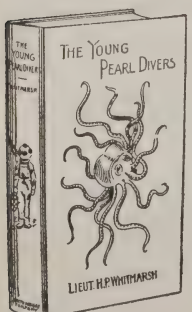
There has long been a need for a Life of Christ for the young, and this book has been written in answer to this demand. That it will meet with great favor is beyond question, for parents have recognized that their boys and girls want something more than a Bible Story, a dry statement of facts, and that, in order to hold the attention of the youthful readers, a book on this subject should have life and movement as well as scrupulous accuracy and religious sentiment.

Songs and Rhymes for the Little Ones. Compiled by Mary Whitney Morrison (Jenny Wallis). New edition, with an introduction by Mrs. A. D. T. Whitney, and eight illustrations.

1 vol., 12mo, with ornamental cloth binding $1.50

No better description of this admirable book can be given than Mrs. Whitney's happy introduction.

"One might almost as well offer June roses with the assurance of their sweetness, as to present this lovely little gathering of verse, which announces itself, like them, by its own deliciousness. Yet, as Mrs. Morrison's charming volume has long been a delight to me, I am only too happy to link my name with its new and enriched form in this slight way, and simply declare that it is to me, — and to two families of my grandchildren who have had a copy of the first edition all read to pieces for them in their nursery days, — the most bewitching book of songs for little people that we have ever known."



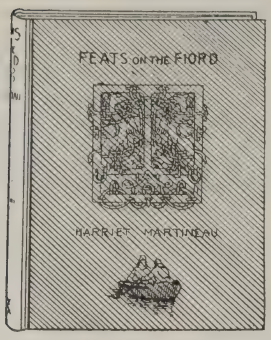
Miss Gray's Girls; or, Summer Days in the Scottish Highlands.

By Jeannette A. Grant.

With about sixty illustrations in half-tone and pen-and-ink sketches of Scottish scenery.

1 vol., small quarto, cloth and ornamental side . . . $1.50

A pleasantly told story of a summer trip through Scotland, somewhat out of the beaten track. A teacher, starting at Glasgow, takes a lively party of girls, her pupils, through the Trossachs to Oban, through the Caledonian Canal to Inverness, and as far north as Brora, missing no part of the matchless scenery and no place of historic interest. Returning through Perth, Stirling, Edinburgh, Melrose, and Abbotsford, the enjoyment of the party and the interest of the reader never lag.



The Young Pearl Divers. A Story of Australian Adventure by Land and Sea. By Lieut. H. Phelps Whitmarsh. Author of "The Mysterious Voyage of the Daphne," etc.

1 vol., cloth, 12mo, illustrated $1.25

This is a splendid story for boys, by an author who writes in vigorous and interesting language of scenes and adventures with which he is personally acquainted.

The book is illustrated with twelve full-page half-tones by H. Burgess, whose drawings have exactly caught the spirited tone of the narrative.

Feats on the Fiord. By Harriet Martineau.

A tale of Norwegian life, with about sixty original illustrations and a colored frontispiece.

1 vol., small quarto, cloth, gilt top $1.25

This admirable book, read and enjoyed by so many young people a generation ago, and now partially forgotten, deserves to be brought to the attention of parents in search of wholesome reading for their children to-day. It is something more than a juvenile book, being really one of the most instructive books about Norway and Norwegian life and manners ever written, well deserving liberal illustration and the luxury of good paper now given to it.

Bébée; or, Two Little Wooden Shoes. By Louisa de la Ramé (Ouida).

With fifty illustrations and a photo-gelatine frontispiece from original drawings by Etheldred B. Barry.

1 vol., square 12mo, cloth, gilt top . . $1.25

A Dog of Flanders. A Christmas Story. By Louisa de la Ramé (Ouida).

A new edition of a beautiful Christmas story, already prized as a classic by all who know it. Contains forty-two original illustrations and a photo-gelatine reproduction of Rubens's great picture, "The Descent from the Cross."

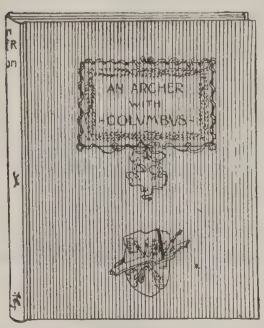
1 vol., square 12mo, cloth, gilt top $1.25

Timothy Dole. By Juniata Salsbury.

With twenty-five or thirty illustrations from drawings and pen-and-ink sketches.

1 vol., 16mo, fancy cloth $1.25

The title gives no clue to the character of the book, but the reader who begins the first chapter will not stop until he has finished the whole. The youthful hero, and a genuine hero he proves to be, starts from home, loses his way, meets with startling adventures, finds friends, kind and many, grows to be a manly man, and is able to devote himself to bettering the condition of the poor in the mining region of Pennsylvania, the scene of his early life and adventures. The book is not of the goody-goody order; although written with a purpose, and conveying a moral lesson, this feature is not obtrusive. It is a wholesome and vigorous book, that boys and girls, and parents as well, will read and enjoy.



The Fairy Folk of Blue Hill.

A Story of Folk-Lore by LILY F. WESSELHOEFT, author of "Sparrow the Tramp," etc., with fifty-five illustrations from original drawings by Alfred C. Eastman.

1 vol., 16mo, fancy cloth $1.25

A new volume by MRS. WESSELHOEFT, well known as one of our best writers for the young, and who has made a host of friends among the young people who have read her delightful books. This book ought to interest and appeal to every child who has read her earlier books.

An Archer with Columbus. By CHARLES E. BIMBLECOM.

With about fifty illustrations from original pen-and-ink sketches.

1 vol., 16mo, handsome cloth binding $1.25

A capital story of a boy who attracted the attention of Columbus while he was seeking the aid of Ferdinand and Isabella for his great voyage of discovery. The wit and courage of the boy enabled him to be of service to the great explorer, and he served as an archer on the vessel of Columbus. His loyalty and devotion, through vicissitude and danger, endeared him to his master, and the story of his experiences and exploits will make him a favorite with boys, young and old. The story is well told, crisply written, full of reasonable adventure and lively dialogue, without a tedious page from beginning to end.

Haman is advanced. and ESTHER. III. IV. seeketh to destroy the Jews.

nothing but what Hegai the king's chamberlain, the keeper of the women, appointed. And Esther obtained favour in the sight of all them that looked upon her.

16 So Esther was taken unto king Ahasuerus into his house royal in the tenth month, which is the month Tebeth, in the seventh year of his reign.

17 And the king loved Esther above all the women, and she obtained grace and favour in his sight more than all the virgins; so that he set the royal crown upon her head, and made her queen instead of Vashti.

18 Then the king made a great feast unto all his princes and his servants, even Esther's feast; and he made a release to the provinces, and gave gifts, according to the state of the king

19 And when the virgins were gathered together the second time, then Mordecai sat in the king's gate

20 Esther had not yet shewed her kindred nor her people; as Mordecai had charged her: for Esther did the commandment of Mordecai, like as when she was brought up from day to day, and from month to month, to the twelfth month, that is, the month Adar.

8 ¶ And Haman said unto king Ahasuerus, There is a certain people scattered abroad and dispersed among the people in all the provinces of thy kingdom; and their laws are diverse from all people; neither keep they the king's laws: therefore it is not for the king's profit to suffer them.

9 If it please the king, let it be written that they may be destroyed: and I will pay ten thousand talents of silver to the hands of those that have the charge of the business, to bring it into the king's treasuries.

These little volumes are of special value in connection with Sunday School work, and members of the different Societies which give special attention to the study of the Bible find them exceedingly useful. To those of the Chautauqua Circles which read Prof. Moulton's "Literary Study of the Bible" they are of special interest.

Copies are for sale at all of the denominational bookstores, or may be ordered from the publishers.

Rev. Dr. LYMAN ABBOTT, Editor-in-Chief of the OUTLOOK, writes:—

"I had intended to write to Professor Moulton, congratulating him on this work. It may almost be said that he has inaugurated a new epoch in Bible study. The scholars have been telling us for some years that the Bible is literature. Particular passages of beauty in it have been pointed out, and some single books, such as Job and the Song of Songs, have been put in literary form and given a literary interpretation by special writers. But Professor Moulton is the first one, so far as I know, to deal with the whole Bible as a collection of literature, to discriminate between literary study and historico-critical study, and to present the result of the former in such a form as to render them available to the ordinary English reader. The low price of the little volumes puts them within the reach of the great majority of American households, and I look for a large increase of interest in the Bible, for a much better understanding of its general spirit and teaching, and especially for an increased appreciation of its inspirational power, from the publication of the Modern Reader's Bible."

Presbyterian and Reformed Review:—

"Unquestionably here is a task worth carrying out: and it is to be said at once that Dr. Moulton has carried it out with great skill and helpfulness. Both the introduction and the notes are distinct contributions to the better understanding and higher appreciation of the literary character, features, and beauties of the Biblical books treated."

11 The house of the wicked shall be overthrown:
But the tent of the upright shall flourish.
12 There is a way which [1]seemeth right unto a man,
But the end thereof are the ways of death.
13 Even in laughter the heart is sorrowful;
And the end of mirth is heaviness.
14 The backslider in heart shall be filled with his own ways:
And a good man shall be satisfied from himself.
15 The simple believeth every word:
But the prudent man looketh well to his going.
16 A wise man feareth, and departeth from evil:
But the fool beareth himself insolently, and is confident.
17 He that is soon angry will deal foolishly:
But the righteous [10]hath hope in his death.
33 Wisdom resteth in the heart of him that hath understanding:
[11]But that which is in the inward part of fools is made known.
34 Righteousness exalteth a nation:
But sin is a reproach to [12]any people.
35 The king's favour is toward a servant that dealeth wisely:
But his wrath shall be against him that [13]causeth shame.
15 A soft answer turneth away wrath:
But a grievous word stirreth up anger.
2 The tongue of the wise uttereth knowledge aright:
But the mouth of fools poureth out folly.
3 The eyes of the LORD are in every place,
Keeping watch upon the evil and the good.

51 And when he came into the house, he suffered no man to go in, save Peter, and James, and John, and the father and the mother of the maiden.
52 And all wept, and bewailed her: but he said, Weep not; she is not dead, but sleepeth.
53 And they laughed him to scorn, knowing that she was dead.
54 And he put them all out, and took her by the hand, thority over all devils, and to cure diseases.
2 And he sent them to preach the kingdom of God, and to heal the sick.
3 And he said unto them, Take nothing for your journey, neither staves, nor scrip, neither bread, neither money; neither have two coats apiece.
4 And whatsoever house ye enter into, there abide, and thence depart.
5 And whosoever will not receive you, when ye go out of that city, shake off the very dust from your feet for a testimony against them.

GOD, that madest earth and heaven,
Darkness and light;
Who the day for toil hast given,
For rest the night:
May Thine angel-guards defend us,
Slumber sweet Thy mercy send us,
Holy dreams and hopes attend us,
This livelong night.

2 Guard us waking, guard us sleeping,
And, when we die,
May we in Thy mighty keeping,
All peaceful lie:
When the last dread call shall wake us,
Do not Thou, our God, forsake us,
But to reign in glory take us
With Thee on high.

SING, with all the sons of glory,
Sing the resurrection-song!
Death and sorrow, earth's dark story,
To the "former days" belong.
Even now the dawn is breaking,
Soon the night of time shall cease,
And, in God's own likeness waking,
Man shall know eternal peace.

2 Oh, what glory, far exceeding
All that eye has yet perceived!
Holiest hearts, for ages pleading,

My soul with heavenly thoughts supply;
Let no ill dreams disturb my rest,
No powers of darkness me molest.

6 Oh, when shall I, in endless day,
Forever chase dark sleep away,
And hymns divine with angels sing,
All praise to Thee, eternal King?

7 Praise God, from Whom all blessings flow;
Praise Him, all creatures here below;
Praise Him above, angelic host:
Praise Father, Son, and Holy Ghost.

ARNOLD, SAMUEL GREENE. History of the State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, 1636-1790. New edition, 2 vols., octavo, 574 and 600 pp. Price, $7.50, net.

Governor Arnold's History of Rhode Island, based upon a careful study of documents in the British State Paper Office and in the Rhode Island State Archives, supplemented by investigations at Paris and The Hague, has from its publication been the authoritative history of the State.

Genealogical students will find in these volumes the names of fifteen hundred persons prominent in Rhode Island affairs. This work is of much more than local interest, as the experiment of religious liberty here tried, gives to this history an importance far beyond the narrow limits of the State.

"One of the best State histories ever written is S. G. Arnold's History of the State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations." JOHN FISKE.

"The best history of Rhode Island is that of Arnold."

PROF. GEORGE P. FISHER, Yale University.

"Mr. Samuel Greene Arnold in his history of Rhode Island has brought together all the extant materials. He brings out more clearly than any previous writer the distinct threads of the previous settlements."

PROF. JOHN A. DOYLE, Oxford.

"A work prepared after long and careful research. Probably no student has ever made himself more familiar with the history of Rhode Island than did Arnold. This work abounds, therefore, in valuable information."

PRES. CHARLES KENDALL ADAMS, Cornell University.

BAILEY, W. WHITMAN, (Professor of Botany, Brown University.) Among Rhode Island Wild Flowers. Cloth, 16 mo., three page illustrations, 75 cents, net.

The favorite collecting grounds are fully described, thus forming a botanical guide to Rhode Island.

In writing this volume Professor Bailey has had in mind the needs of the nature lover, and has discarded technical terms as far as possible, adapting the work to the amateur as well as the botanist.

It should be in the hands of every lover of woodland and meadow.

FIELD, EDWARD, (Past President of the Rhode Island Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, and Member of the Providence Record Commission.) Revolutionary Defences in Rhode Island. A historical account of the fortifications and beacons erected during the American Revolution, with muster rolls of the companies stationed along the shores of Narragansett Bay, with maps, plans, and illustrations. Octavo, cloth, Price, $2.25 net.

This volume contains an account of the various works of defence erected in the State, showing where and under what circumstances they were built. Muster rolls and company lists containing the names of more than seven hundred officers and enlisted men, many of which have been hitherto inaccessible, are here printed. The work is profusely illustrated with plans and views of those old earthworks, together with illustrations of the various styles of equipments used by the patriots of '76, and fac-similes of the enlistment papers of the Continental Army.

The Colonial Tavern. A glimpse of New England Town Life in the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centuries. Cloth, octavo, 292 pages. Price, $2.00 net.

Tax List of the Town of Providence During the Administration of Sir Edward Andros and his Council, 1686-1689. 60 pp. cloth, octavo. Price, $1.00, net.

The "Tax Lists of the Town of Providence" is a compilation of original documents relating to taxation during the Administration of Sir Edmund Andros and his Council, 1686–1689. It comprises copies of warrants issued by order of the Council for assessment and collection of taxes, the tax lists or rate bills prepared pursuant to these warrants, the returns made by the townsmen of their ratable property, and the Tax Laws enacted by Andros and his Council. All of these, with the exception of the laws, which are found in a rare volume of the Colonial Records of Connecticut, are here printed for the first time.

Among the rate bills is the list of polls for 1688, which contains the names of all males sixteen years of age and upwards living in Providence in August of that year: practically a census of the town. For the genealogist and historian this volume contains material of the greatest value on account of the great number of names which these lists contain, besides showing the amount of tax assessment in each case.

The returns of ratable property form a study by themselves, for they tell in the quaint language of the colonists what they possess, and therefore shed much light on the condition of the times. For a study of this episode in New England Colonial History this work is invaluable.

The index of all names contained in the lists and text is a feature of this work.

The edition is limited to Two Hundred and Fifty numbered copies.

The author has gathered fron many sources the scattered facts relating to the career of Mary Dyer and woven them into a detailed narrative, so that the tragic story of her life is now for the first time adequately told. By adding a brief but comprehensive sketch of the manner and sentiments of her times, he has furnished a background or framework for his subject which adds much to the interest of the volume by enabling the reader, the better to understand the surroundings of the characters he portrays. The important documents relating to her trial are printed in the appendix.

TOPOGRAPHICAL ATLAS of the State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, by the United States Geological Survey, in co-operation with the State. In sheets, $1.00, net; in portfolio, $2.00, net; bound in cloth, $2.50, net.

The plates of the Atlas were engraved upon copper in the highest style of cartographic engraving by the United States Government and furnished to the State. From these plates transfers were made to stone, and the maps printed in four colors, viz: The names, roads, railroads and other culture features in black. Rivers, ponds, swamps and other water features in blue. Contour lines and figures denoting elevation are in brown. State, county and town boundries are in pink over the more exact boundaries in black or blue.

Besides showing all bodies of water and water courses, common roads or highways and railroads, it has one feature distinct from and superior to any map of the State hitherto published, viz: Contour lines, drawn for each 20 feet of elevation above mean sea level. Figures are placed upon the heavier contour lines which denote elevations of 100 feet, 200 feet, etc., above mean sea level, also upon hills and bodies of water to denote their elevation. A contour line indicating 20 feet depth of water below mean sea level is drawn along the coast. In a few cases figures are given to indicate depth of water of less than 20 feet.

This Atlas includes 12 maps and 10 pages index and statistics, in all 22 sheets 21 x 16½. The scale of survey is $\frac{1}{62500}$ or one mile to an inch.

"No thoughtful person, with skeptical tendencies, could read this volume without finding clear light, and feeling compelled to accept the truth as it is in Jesus."—Zion's Herald. "It is a powerful argument addressed to those the foundation of whose faith has been shaken by the assaults of modern thought and criticism. The style is interesting, vivid, and very powerful."—Justice Lamar, Supreme Court, United States. "It is a great honor, from any point of view, to be the author of such a book. If the author had remained in Congress, and become the Speaker of the House, he could not have done as much good for his fellow-men as will be done by the circulation of this book." Judge Harlan, Supreme Court, United States.

The Doctrine of the Holy Scriptures. Volume II. includes: 6. Anthropology: the Doctrine of Man. 7. Ecclesiology: the Doctrine of the Church. 8. Christian Ethics. 9. A Theological Glossary. "No Methodist writer, not excepting Watson, Pope, Raymond, or any other Methodist author, has ever more clearly and forcibly set forth and unanswerably vindicated Wesleyan Methodist Arminianism than has Dr. Summers. As a text-book, on which a student is to stand an examination, it has qualities that must give it the precedence over Watson or Pope."—Dr. John E. Edwards. "Dr. Summers was evidently a man of profound convictions, of wide reading, cautiously conservative, but ready to learn, able to defend his positions. His ultraconservative views of textual criticism interfere with the accuracy of his citation of proof text; but his editor has been careful to annotate in the interest of a more correct attitude to the real word of God. Indeed, Prof. Tigert has supplemented the volume so as to bring it 'down to date' in all the departments of Biblical learning upon which it seemed to require such enlargement. The doctrinal views are precisely what might be expected from the claims of the title. They are carefully and fully stated, objections are candidly weighed; but the author remains a Wesleyan Arminian."—Sunday School Times.

Southern Writers.

Biographical and Critical Studies.

By William Malone Baskervill.

IN a series of twelve papers the writer proposes to give a tolerably complete survey of that literary movement which, beginning about 1870, has spread over the entire South. Since that time Southern writers have been conspicuous among the chief contributors to the nation's literature. There will be no attempt to place a final estimate upon this contribution, though some critical opinions will now and then be offered. The effort will be rather to present biographical data and literary appreciations—to stimulate the desire for a more intimate acquaintance with this literature which is so fresh, original, and racy of the soil. The series will appear as follows:

1. Joel Chandler Harris.
2. Maurice Thompson.
3. Sidney Lanier.
4. Irwin Russell.
5. Mrs. Margaret J. Preston.
6. George Washington Cable.
7. Charles Egbert Craddock.
8. Richard Malcolm Johnston.
9. Thomas Nelson Page.
10. James Lane Allen.
11. Miss Grace King.
12. Samuel Minturn Peck.

These writers may not unfairly be considered typical and representative of the best that has been produced in this new era.

OUR SUNDAY SCHOOL PERIODICALS.

EDITED BY REV. JAMES ATKINS, D.D.

Our Sunday school periodicals should be used in all our schools. They are authorized by the General Conference, prepared by our editor, published by our House for the especial use and benefit of our people. They are adapted to our wants, and should not be substituted by any other.

Preachers, Sunday school officers, and all others interested in the furtherance of Southern Methodism, see to it that no undenominational or impure literature is used in our schools! In matter and style our literature is equal to the best, and is cheaper than any other of equal grade. All the moral and religious reasons that call for Methodist preachers in Methodist pulpits call for Methodist literature in Methodist schools. Write for specimen copies.

The Sunday School Magazine. A sixty-four-page monthly of acknowledged excellence, for the use of officers, teachers, and older scholars. With full exposition of the International Lesson texts, every number contains valuable hints as to the facts, principles, objects, methods, and capabilities of Sunday school work, blackboard illustrations and colored map. No publication of equal merit is furnished at a less price. 768 pages yearly, postpaid, for the small sum of 50 cents.

The Senior Quarterly. A thirty-two-page pamphlet devoted to lesson helps for scholars in advanced classes. Its value is enhanced by the introduction of appropriate forms for opening and closing exercises, hymns and tunes, maps, dictionary of proper names, etc.

Five or more, to one address, per annum, each .....15 cents.
Five or more, to one address, per quarter, each..... 4 cents.

A MODERN PUBLISHING HOUSE . . .

Rand, McNally & Co.,

CHICAGO AND NEW YORK.

The well-known printing and publishing house of Rand, McNally & Co. was established nearly forty years ago (in 1856). Its business has grown steadily and rapidly, necessitating several removals and enlargements of quarters, until the present magnificent structure was erected in 1889. The building has a frontage of 150 feet on Adams Street, and extends 165 feet through to Quincy Street. It is ten stories high, a model of convenience, and one of the few really fire-proof buildings in the city. It was the first all-steel structure erected in Chicago. In the center is an open court 60 x 66 feet, with its outer walls faced with English white enameled brick. Thus ample air and light are furnished for all the inner offices. The building cost over $1,000,000.

Here is the home of one of the largest printing plants in the world, and the greatest of railway ticket and time table manufactories. The company does a very large general printing and publishing business, but is chiefly known as publishers of maps, atlases, globes, and guide-books. Their capacity for this line of work is unexcelled, and their name on any such publication stamps it as a standard work.

The New York Branch of Rand, McNally & Co. is at 61 East Ninth Street (near Broadway), in the new Educational Building. The location is central, easily reached by cable and elevated roads, and is near the large publishers, booksellers and school-supply houses.

Teachers and school officers are cordially invited to call at either of our offices and examine our large stock of maps, globes, and atlases.

The "Diamond" Map Case with Spring Roller, showing the map partially drawn down.
We furnish with each Case two screw eyes and two hooks with which to attach it to the wall.

New Official Railroad Map of the United States.

Size, 90x65 inches; approximate scale, 37 miles 1 inch. Embracing the entire United States and the greater and most important portions of Canada, Mexico, and the West Indies. This is an ideal business map. Compiled from the latest surveys, both governmental and private. Handsomely colored by States. The large majority of commercial houses care little for any features but railroads and towns, and this is the one idea that has constantly been kept in view in preparing this map. No counties are shown, thus making the commercial features more prominent than it would be possible to delineate them on a map twice the size with the county outlines given. The more prominent geographical features, mountains, rivers, lakes, etc., are correctly located.

Wall map (cloth back)..... $15.00
Wall map, in Diamond Case..... 20.00

General Map of the United States, with portions of Canada and Mexico.

Size (one sheet), 66 x 46 inches; scale, 45 miles to one inch. Compiled and drawn from the latest records of the United States Land Office and from the records of the Surveyor General for the different States and Territories. It shows all State and County boundary lines, Indian reservations, mountain ranges, peaks, lakes, and rivers; all lines of railroad are carefully located, and the cities and towns thereon shown in large, plain type. The States are contrasted in colors by our celebrated patent process. Embraces the territory between Maine and California east and west, and from the southern shore of James Bay on the north to Monterey, Mexico, on the south.

On cloth and rollers, for wall..... $5.00
On cloth and in leather cover, folded, 8x12 inches..... 8.00
In Diamond Case (see cut above)..... 8.50

Popular Reversible Map.

Size, 66x46 inches. One side showing our "General" map as per foregoing description, on the back of which is printed our best map of the World, with special inset maps of England and Wales, Germany, Norway, and Sweden. An alphabetical index indicates on the map the location of all the different countries, with a synopsis of the history, present condition, commercial features, style of government, name of ruler, population, etc.

Globe Map of United States, Canada, and Mexico.

Size, 41 x 58 inches; scale, 75 miles to one inch. The United States and its immediate neighbors on the north and south form, commercially and geographically, a single country, irrespective of their political separateness. It is for this reason that this map of the United States was made to include not only Canada and Mexico, but the Central American States, Cuba, Jamaica, and the Bahamas — a territory extending from the equator to the 55th degree of latitude north.

The details are full, without being crowded, and the plan of coloring contrasts distinctly the boundaries of adjacent States. The relative importance of cities is indicated by the graded sizes of type used for their names, while capitals, etc., are further distinguished by the signs used for locating them. An inset map, 8½ x 6½ inches, shows Alaska on a scale of 187 miles to the inch. No Railroads are shown, the idea being to make a map on which important towns and their relative positions will be seen at a glance.

Columbia Series Map of United States.

Size, 66 x 46 inches; scale, 53 miles to one inch. This is not a railroad map, consequently it is very distinct in other respects. It includes the territory between 25° and 55° North Latitude, thus showing the United States entire, and quite a large portion of the Provinces of Canada and the States of Mexico. All boundaries of States and Territories are very plain, and the new States distinctly outlined; separate contrasting shades of color indicate the different political divisions; mountainous regions are more satisfactorily shown than upon other maps, and this feature will at once secure approval; not only the mountain peaks and ranges, but the foot-hills and scattering portions are so represented as to give the most correct impression of location and extent. The heights of the more important mountains and the lengths of rivers are given. The relative importance of cities and towns is indicated by black dots of various sizes. Their average annual temperature is also noted. In the borders of the map parallel places in other countries are named.

RAND, MCNALLY & CO.'S

New Large Physical Maps

EACH MAP MEASURES 66 X 46 INCHES.

This series of physical maps contains all the good qualities of the German and French maps, besides adding many important features not contained in any of the foreign publications.

The system of coloring employed to indicate the elevations is superior to that adopted by the European cartographers. The shadings of brown are so carefully blended that the valleys appear depressed and the mountain systems to stand out in bold relief.

Ocean Currents, which are of primary importance in determining climate, are shown in the most appropriate colors—the warm currents being represented by a warm brown and the cold currents by a cold blue color.

Isothermal lines for July and January are traced in solid red lines, degrees of heat and cold being distinctly marked on the sides of the map.

Plant Distribution in North America, Europe, and Asia is plainly shown by heavy broken red lines. No other physical maps or text books on this subject correctly show plant distribution in North America.

The happy blending of all the colors used in this series of maps is artistic, the effect pleasing, and the result a comprehensive object lesson that a child can understand.

In the preparation of this series of physical maps, old landmarks have been discarded, and for the first time the results of recent exploration and research are given to the world.

The trend of the most successful teaching of the kindred subjects —geography and history—is all toward the use of the physical maps.

New Outline Tracing Maps (American Series).

We announce the publication of a new series of sheet outline maps, without names, for "progressive" work. These are printed on a highly calendered white paper, which can be used with pencil, ink, or colors. Size of sheets is uniformly 21 x 14 inches. The outlines are very clearly defined. Those of the continents and the various countries show projection and outline, without names. Maps of States and Territories of the United States show projection and outline, county boundaries, locations of county seats, and a few of the principal rivers, without names. The map of the United States shows projection and outline, boundaries of States and Territories, locations of capitals, and some of the principal rivers, without names. It is expected that the pupil will use a sheet for several days—one day in developing coast-lines, etc., filling in names, latitude and longitude, etc.; another in drawing in and naming mountain systems and rivers; another to political boundaries and cities; another to writing in names of productions, etc., until in a progressive way the pupil shall construct a full map.

These maps will prove invaluable for present methods of teaching, or for any purpose where outlines are required. The gradual filling in of details, whether geographical, historical, geological, or statistical, gives the pupil a knowledge of the comparative size and shape of the space shown, the political divisions, names and locations of cities, government (local and general), the course and the names of rivers, the position and names of lakes and bodies of water, which can be as readily secured in no other way. The cost of the maps is so small that they can be used freely.

Size, 14 x 21 inches. Price: 5 cents per copy, $2.50 per 100, $15.00 per 1000.

American Game Fishes.

Their Habits, Habitat, and Peculiarities; How, When, and Where to Angle for Them.

EDITED BY G. O. SHIELDS.

By combining experience with the contents of text-books, a fair but superficial knowledge may be gathered of the fishes of the Atlantic, Pacific, and Gulf States, and coast; but it can not be a complete record of their life and habits, such as would be acquired by a score of anglers, widely separated, each treating of one or two fishes that he has studied closely in all their relations, because they are his favorites, and because such a study is necessary in order to be successful in their capture; for, let it be understood, there are angling specialists as well as other specialists.

THE RISE.

CONTENTS: The Salmon; the Pacific Salmon; the Land-Locked Salmon; the Tarpon; the Striped Bass; the Black Bass; the Bluefish; the Mascalonge; the Mascalonge in Wisconsin Waters; the Brook Trout; Trouting on the Nipigon; the Lake Trout; the Rocky Mountain Trout; Sea Bass, Sea Trout, Spanish Mackerel, Grouper, Mangrove Snapper, Sheepshead, and other Southern Fishes; the Grayling; the Pike; the Wall-Eyed Pike; the Pickerel; the White Perch; the Yellow Bass, White Bass, Strawberry Bass, Rock Bass, Crappie, Sunfish, Yellow Perch, and Minor Perch and Sunfishes; the Senses of Fishes; Fishing-Tackle, and How to Make It; Reels, Their Use and Abuse; the Angler's Camp Outfit.

Large 8vo; 155 illustrations and two colored plates.
Cloth, $1.50; half morocco, $4.00; full morocco, gilt edged, $5.50.

A book that will delight the heart of the angler.—San Francisco Chronicle.

No angler's library is complete without this work.—Outing, New York.

A volume which will make the nerves of the disciples of old Isaak Walton tingle to even glance through the pages. . . . . Both the art and the written text are excellent.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

The Big Game of North America.

A Book for the Sportsman and Naturalist, as well as every Youth and Adult fond of Adventures with the Big Game.

EDITED BY G. O. SHIELDS ("COQUINA").

Author of "Cruisings in the Cascades," "Battle of Big Hole," "Camping and Camp Outfits," etc.

THE SULTAN OF CHOPACA.

Not a mere compilation of anecdotes and stories, but consisting of articles by well-known and recognized authorities on the proper mode of pursuit and capture of those quadrupeds considered legitimate game for the adventurous nimrods of this continent. Twenty-six species are exhaustively considered by as many writers.

Copiously illustrated; 8vo; 600 pages; eighty illustrations.

Cloth, $3.50; half morocco, gilt top, $5.00; full morocco, all gilt edges, $6.50.

The Honorable John Dean Caton, the eminent naturalist and jurist, author of "The Antelope and Deer of America," etc., says of this work: "Any one of the names on Mr. Shields' list of contributors should insure the sale of an entire edition of his book, and when we multiply this possibility by twenty-six, the whole number of names on his title-page, the result obtained indicates the magnitude of the success that should, and that we hope will, crown his labors and those of his collaborateurs. The editor of this work has not overlooked the fact that this is preëminently a practical age—an age of object-teaching. He has, therefore, illustrated his book in a way that he and his contributors may justly feel proud of."

Author of "Wild Fowl Shooting."

SNIPE SHOOTING.

This handsome octavo . . . is a composite book, there being twenty authors, each of whom writes on the bird which he prefers to bag. . . . Ducks, prairie-chickens, grouse, wild turkeys, geese, pigeons, snipe, quail, woodcock, and plover are among the birds named. The habits of all are minutely described; so are the most effective methods of securing them. The pictures are very good.—New York Herald, May 18, 1890.

NO BOOK ON FIELD SPORTS HAS EVER BEEN MORE FAVORABLY RECEIVED.

Wild Fowl Shooting.

Handsomely illustrated; 8vo; 373 pages.
Cloth cover, $2.50; half morocco, $3.50; full morocco, gilt edges, $5.50

Outing, in course of its review, says: "For a writer of books on sporting subjects one qualification is absolutely indispensable if the result is to be a success, and that is that the author shall have his heart thoroughly in his work. In no other class of literature is the lack of such a qualification made so palpable to the reader. In 'Wild Fowl Shooting' Mr. William Bruce Leffingwell shows his love and knowledge of sport in a way which will give his work a high place in sporting literature. From the first to the last chapter the book is nothing if not practical, and the information is pleasantly interspersed with anecdotes and stories in such a way that the veteran will read with amusement and interest and the tyro will gather instruction at the same time."

Cruisings in the Cascades and Other Hunting Adventures.

By G. O. Shields ("Coquina").

Cloth, $2.00; half morocco, $3.00.

A Portrait.

Men who enjoy jaunts in the woods in search of big game will find this book extremely interesting.—New York Herald.

"Cruisings in the Cascades" is by far the best thing "Coquina" has ever written.—American Field.

It is by all odds the most fascinating book on big game hunting ever published. —The Journalist.

The author's style of writing would make even a dull subject enjoyable. . . . There are enchanting sketches of scenery, pleasing stories of mountain climbing, of hunting and fishing; excellent estimates and delineations of Indian character, drawn from personal contact; a fine description of salmon and their habits, and such accounts of bear, elk, deer, and goat hunting as to make the blood of the hunter tingle in every vein.—Public Opinion.

Having spent a number of pleasant evenings in close communion with the work in question, we can not refrain from saying: "And to you, also, Mr. Shields, the great body of American sportsmen should be profoundly grateful for the good judgment, the painstaking fairness, and the excellent taste with which you have guided the course of this laudable undertaking."

This new work is one that has long been needed. It is a large and beautifully illustrated volume of 700 pages, and may be said to cover the subject of which it treats from alpha to omega. Its list of contributors embraces the names of some two dozen gentlemen who are preëminently authorities on the subjects of which they write.—Sports Afield

Illustrated Sketches of Death Valley and other borax deserts of the Pacific Coast. By John R. Spears. A story of apparent paradoxes and wonders. Nature, if unkind in a way, has been lavish in her gifts to this desert pit. Well has this valley been named, and yet for more than half of the year it is one of the healthiest spots of the Pacific Coast. It is a place where rainstorms are well-nigh unknown, and yet one where the effects of cloudbursts are almost unparalleled. It is the hottest spot on earth, and yet ice often forms there. It is a region where the beds of lakes are found on the pointed peaks of mountains. It is a region where a mountain system of the most gorgeously colored rocks is known as the Funeral Range. It is a rent in the earth, the bottom of which, in spite of the washings of centuries, is probably deeper below the level of the sea than that of any other valley of the world. Handsomely illustrated; 226 pages. Cloth, $1.00.

Fisher's Cottage in the Stockholm Skärgård. From a Painting by J. P. Södermark.

Says the Svenska Kuriren of Chicago: "There is nothing new to us in reading the foreigner's impression of Sweden. We have already seen too many of them lately. But seldom, if ever before, has a work been issued by a foreigner who has had occasion to know Sweden so thoroughly, and still more seldom has the judgment been so favorable as in this case. His picturing of the middle class and the peasantry is matchless. It is with a feeling of regret that one finishes reading the book, as one wants to read more by the same author on the same subject. Pictures of persons, landscape, etc., are very finely executed, and will no doubt increase its circulation. The well-known firm of Rand, McNally & Co., Chicago, are the publishers, another recommendation for the work."

The Philadelphia Public Ledger says: "For real knowledge of the people, soil, institutions, and traditions of Sweden one must consult such a book as this of our Minister's, which is closely packed with useful information, with shrewd but kindly observations, and vivid descriptions. Mr. Thomas' energy and versatility are well attested by this book, which may be read with profit, as it must be read with pleasure."

Drawing and Designing By CHARLES G. LELAND, A. M. Simple, practical, concise, and comprehensive. 12mo; 80 pages; flexible cloth, 65 cents.

The first step to be made toward learning any art is to master the principles of design. Mr. Leland asserts that anyone who can write can learn to draw, and without a knowledge of drawing it is impossible to attain satisfactory results with any ornamental art.

The publishers offer this little volume as the simplest and most practical key to a working knowledge of any of the minor arts and industries.

BUFFALO BILL; From Prairie to Palace.

With sketches, stories of adventure, and anecdotes of the world-famous scout. By Major John M. Burke, authorized by Gen. W. F. Cody.

The subject of this book needs no introduction to the newspaper-reading public. It is to be said, however, that his reputation does not, like many others, rest with the press. No better proofs of his sterling qualities are needed than the commendations of the various generals under whom he has served.

The celebrated Indian fighter, Gen. E. A. Carr, says: "Mr. Cody seemed never to tire, and was always ready to go in the darkest night or the worst weather, and usually volunteered, knowing what the emergency required. I consider that his services to the country and the army by trailing, finding, and fighting Indians have been invaluable."

275 pages. Cloth cover, $1.00. Paper cover, 25 cents.

SEVENTY YEARS ON THE FRONTIER.

Alexander Majors memories of a lifetime on the border, with a preface by Gen. W. F. Cody (Buffalo Bill). Edited by Col. Prentiss Ingraham.

No man is better able to speak of early border life than the subject of this work. Having passed an entire lifetime in the far West during its most stirring times he is certainly well able to write on the matter. The fact that his friends are among the most noted pioneers of the West is a sufficient guarantee of the value of the work.

A Geographical Game.

A TRIP THROUGH THE UNITED STATES.

A most amusing and instructive geographical game for young and old. On a map of the United States are printed red and black numbered stars at the location of principal cities. The play is with dice and begins at Boston, which is No. 1. From that point the player works his way to San Francisco, progressing the number of points he throws. To some numbers a penalty is attached, and to others an advantage, so that the fun of the game is in its uncertainty. For instance, if a throw of the dice lands a player on Death Valley, Cal., he must begin over again at Boston. In substantial cloth case, $1.00.

By

MARION HARLAND.

Ruth Bergen's Limitations: A Modern Auto-da-Fe. 16mo, cloth, 50c.

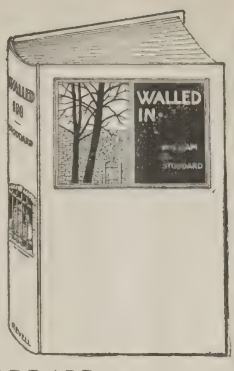
A well-told tale that will greatly interest those who are concerned about the controversy that has been, and still is, raging between conservatives and liberals in the matter of Biblical criticism. The story not only purports to be, but manifestly is, the narration of true events, which adds greatly to its power and importance. Its literary style is entirely worthy of its distinguished author.

By "PANSY."

he Older Brother. By the author of "Ester Ried," etc. Illustrated. 12mo, cloth, 75c.

An ennobling story of brotherly self-effacement.

"I understand, I think, the reasons for the perennial popularity of the 'Pansy books.' They waken the music of the ble chords of the soul. In their influence, as compared with at of the usual Sunday-school book or work of light fiction, s the difference that exists between waltz and oratorio."—K. BOLTON.



By

DAVID LYALL.

Heather from the Brae: Scottish Character Sketches. 3d edition. 16mo, cloth, decorated, 75c.

"The author, in common with Barrie, Crockett, and MacLaren, has the gift of investing the Scottish character, its life and manners, with the charm of reality, illumined by the glow of feeling, and made human by its very simplicity."—The Boston Transcript.

"Possessed of the clairvoyance of genuine talent."—Examiner.

By W. O. STODDARD.

Walled In: A True Story of Randall's Island. Illustrated. 12mo, cloth, 75c.

Mr. Stoddard is widely and favorably known as the author of many successful stories for boys, among them being "Dab Kinzer" and "Saltillo Boys." In this, his latest tale, he tells the story of the escape from the Randall's Island Reformatory of a boy unjustly confined therein, and gives many interesting details of life in that institution.

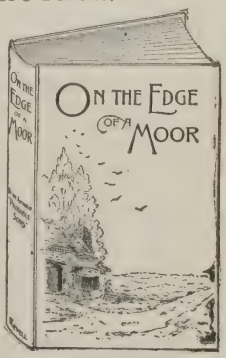
THE WOMAN'S SPHERE.

"And She Got All That!" By Cara Reese. Illustrated. 16mo, cloth, 75c.

A story which deals with the difficult question, "How far is a married woman justified in going beyond her sphere as homemaker to improve the fortunes of her family and exercise her own special aptitudes?" The author shows a profound and sympathetic apprehension of the various aspects of this important problem, and brings a valuable contribution to its solution in a story which is full of incident, at times intense in feeling, and which maintains the interest steadily from beginning to end.

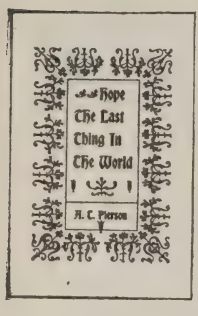
By THE AUTHOR OF "'PROBABLE SONS.'"

Dwell Deep; or, Hilda Thorn's Life Story. Illustrated. 16mo, cloth, 75c.



"A story of a girl who, being left without a home, went to live with her guardian, who had a number of children. Hilda Thorn was trying to be a Christian, and her associates were very worldly, which made it hard for her. It is an interesting story, with the reality of experience."—The Religious Herald.

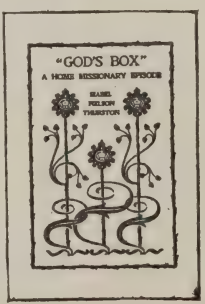
By THE SAME AUTHOR.



On the Edge of a Moor. Illustrated. 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

An interesting narrative of the means by which a city girl, living for a time among rough, untutored country people, became an influence for good to her entire neighborhood. It is a cleverly written tale, and is calculated, by the freshness and vigor of its style, to fascinate and instruct the reader.

Altogether, it may be said that this work proves beyond a doubt that the author's talents, although first enlisted as a writer for children, are also of the first order as a writer for older readers.



The Perfected Life Booklets.

This series, as a whole, and the individual booklets included in it, have been and are extremely popular. For this the reasons are plain. There is probably not another series sold at the very modest prices asked for this, which has for its contributors any such list of authors as has this. The Peep of Day Series.

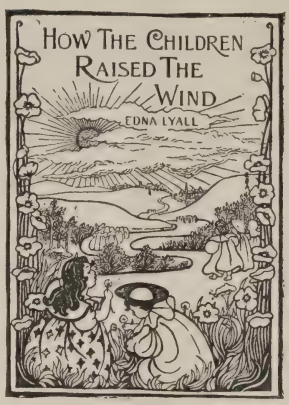
By MRS. M. MORTIMER.

A new, uniform edition of four famous and, until lately, very popular books of Bible instruction for children. If, recently, they have in a measure lost their hold upon juvenile readers, it has only been because they have not been accessible in good print and binding, and at a moderate price.



Miss Lathbury's cover design is clever and appropriate, while paper and printing are all that can be desired.

Illustrated.

12mo, decorated cloth, each, 50 cents.

Stories of Childhood.

Well-illustrated, well-bound books for children, of the kind that entertain not only the youngsters who hear, but equally the oldsters who read them. The covers are evidence that the publishers are determined that not the grown-ups only shall have their literature in artistic dress; while the illustrations, from original drawings by well-known illustrators, are to an equal extent distinctly in advance of what is usually considered sufficiently artistic for the youthful eye.

Small 4to, decorated cloth, each, 50 cents.

1. A Thoughtless Seven. By the author of "'Probable Sons.'" Illustrated.

A record of the doings of seven youngsters, brothers and sisters, who spend their summer vacation at the seashore. One of them becomes impressed with the fact that they should not waste their time so entirely, and endeavors to bring the others to her way of thinking.

2. How the Children Raised the Wind. By Edna Lyall, author of "Doreen," "Donovan," "We Two," etc. Illustrated by Mary A. Lathbury.

"A charming story of the successful efforts of two children to help pay off a debt on a church of which their father is the pastor. The amusing methods of the little ones to collect money with the aid of an organette and a brown poodle who carried the contribution box around his neck, and was further adorned with a placard reading, 'Pity the new church,' are delightfully set forth. The little boy played the organette, and the girl danced, the placard explaining the necessity of the performance. The children's pluck and earnestness won for them influential friends, and the debt was paid."—The Brooklyn Eagle.

3. Adolph, and How He Found the "Beautiful Lady." By Fannie J. Taylor. Illustrated by Helene Toerring.

"Adolph is the winsome, artless, fair-haired child of German immigrants, who makes friends with the Beautiful Lady on the voyage to New York. Adolph has a little sister, and the Beautiful Lady a little daughter. When the vessel arrives it is quarantined, for an epidemic has broken out on board. What more natural than that at the hospital Adolph's sister and the Beautiful Lady's daughter should be mixed up, that when Marie dies the Beautiful Lady should be the one bereaved, and the real heiress should become for a time a denizen of the slums, and finally be restored to her sorrowing mother through Adolph's instinctive efforts? It is all very prettily told in direct narrative, and there are a number of felicitous touches in the descriptions."—The Boston Beacon.

4. The Making of a Hero, and Other Stories for Boys. By Mrs. George A. Paull, author of "Prince Dimple," etc. Illustrated by G. W. Bonte.

"This little volume contains half a dozen bright, attractive, and profitable tales for boys by one who was a favorite writer, whether she wrote for young or old. She knew well how to please and profit, and exerted by her manifold sketches untold influence for good. Being dead, she yet speaks through the printed page, and her voice will find welcome and a hearing in numberless homes."—The N. Y. Observer.

5. "Probable Sons." By the author of "Eric's Good News." Illustrated.

"We do not know the author of this very touching tale. It is equal to 'Fishin' Jimmy' in its way, while as an illustration of the text, 'A little child shall lead them,' it is the most irresistibly pathetic tale we remember to have seen. Among the brightest, most charming and irresistible of child-creations in our recent literature."—The Independent.

6. Teddy's Button. By the author of "'Probable Sons.'" Illustrated by E. Lance.

"A captivating story. Teddy and Nancy win our hearts. Teddy's brave fight with himself commands admiration, and stout-hearted, handsome Nancy, a real girl in all her doings, conquers the heart. A very good story is this for the children."—The Christian Intelligencer.

The Secret of Success; or, Finger Posts on the Highway of Life. Introduction by Hon. John V. Farwell. 8vo, cloth 1.50

"This volume is a perfect thesaurus of maxims and of inspiriting incidents relating to attainment. In his careful study of success and how to reach it, the author has certainly been permitted to name some of the steps."—The Golden Rule.

"The author was invited in 1895 to present what is known of the earliest forms of life in a course of lectures delivered at the Lowell Institute, Boston; and the success which attended these lectures has induced him to reproduce them in the present work in the hope that the subject may have for the general reader some of that fascination which it possesses for those who occupy themselves with its study; and that a stimulus may be given to those collectors and scientific workers who have opportunity to obtain new facts relating to the origin and early history of animal life."—Preface.

Eden Lost and Won. Studies of the Early History and Final Destiny of Man, as taught in Nature and Revelation. 12mo, cloth..... 1.25

"This work is in two parts. The first considers the physical and historical probabilities respecting the authorship and authority of the Pentateuch. The second treats of man and nature, fallen and restored. Dr Dawson is a strong believer in the Mosaic authorship of the first five books of the Bible, and states his reasons in such a clear and cogent way as to convince the reader that the higher critics have by no means made out the post-exilian origin of these Mosaic records."—*The N. "This is a work of great value for several widely different reasons. Its style has all the charm of friendly converse. The subject had traveled so widely, mingled with ecclesiastical and public affairs so actively, that the book may be considered a running commentary on the events of the last half century. He knew so many distinguished men and speaks of them so frankly as to produce the impression that his brain must have been a gallery of mental portraits."—The Christian Advocate (N. Y.)

To many the life of the Christ will be a new book in this
n. Though beyond the introduction it contains no word ept what is found in the four Gospels, yet when read coniously, without the breaks necessarily made by the different ies of the four evangelists, the narrative takes on new
:e and lifelikeness. The very fact that this is not our usual hod of reading the Word will give it a new reality."—*The PRESIDENT CHARLES CUTHBERT HALL, D.D., in The Expositor, says: "The Fleming H. Revell Company is drawing an important undertaking to a close. In 32 volumes of about 650 pages each, covering the Canonical Books, the Rev. Joseph S. Exell, M.A., edits THE BIBLICAL ILLUSTRATOR. The twenty-ninth volume (Second Corinthians) is just issued. With extraordinary industry the editor has accumulated a vast store of material designed to illustrate the text of Holy Scripture and to stimulate the homiletic worker. It gathers chiefly from the field of anecdote, simile, emblem, and sermon outline."

"An unfailing source of enthusiasm is the story of a missionary pioneer. . . . He was led to settle in North Formosa, then without a missionary; and for twenty-three years he has labored, with almost no foreign helpers, developing a native church and a native ministry. . . Besides being richly illustrated, the book is as fascinating as a novel, and is a striking contribution to our knowledge of Southern Japan, being especially noteworthy for the rich stores of scientific knowledge concerning the geology, geography, flora, fauna and ethnology of the 'Beautiful Island.' Yet it abounds also in practical hints on mission methods, and reveals again and again the indomitable courage and boundless resource and unfailing love which are behind the modern hero of the cross."—The S. S. Times.

"A book of practical religion. It exhibits the high privileges of the believer and urges him on to the attainment. We live in the dispensation of the Spirit, and may enjoy His cleansing, comfort, and help. The line of spiritual life opened by Wesley in his doctrine of perfect love is followed up in such books as this of MacNeil. The author's statements on the work of the Spirit are fresh and forcible; he tells the way of the life of God in the soul of man."—Zion's Herald.

Aiming to convince the judgment, awaken the conscience, and persuade to immediate action; he knows the springs of the human heart through which the objects may be accomplished and touches them. He understands the mission of the gospel and the obstacles which hinder its progress. He smites the evil squarely and proclaims his message in simplicity and plainness of speech, displaying a sublime confidence in the omnipotence of truth."—*Rev. J. M. His work does not consist of mere pious moralizing, but it is the product of a man evidently of scholarly habits and attainments, and in close and practical touch with the life of the people of the day, and with the strongest and clearest convictions that the simple, plain gospel of Christ, the divine and atoning Saviour, and the Bible the very word of God, are indispensable to the salvation of the world."—The United Presbyterian.

¶Bible Study by Doctrines. 12mo, cloth...

Every Christian should be able to give a reason for the faith that he holds; to know why he believes and upon what grounds. The design of these lessons is to meet that need and to give a summary of the leading Bible doctrines. No attempt has been made to seek after new or novel constructions of the subjects treated, or to emphasize points of difference, but rather to show upon how many fundamental things all Christians are united. The standard of authority is the Bible, and the final appeal is always to its pages.

"The best book on the Chinese people."—The Examiner.

"A completely trustworthy study."—The Advance.

"It is scarcely enough to say about this book that it is both interesting and valuable. Those best informed call it without exception the best book on the Chinese that is before the public, and a pretty careful survey of it confirms that opinion."—The Independent.

"There is all the difference between an intaglio in onyx and a pencil scrawl on paper to be discovered between Mr. Smith's book and the printed prattle of the average globe-trotter. Our author's work has been done, as it were, with a chisel and an emory wheel. He goes deeply beneath the surface."—The Critic.

"To commend this work would seem almost superfluous; and yet to young Christians who may not know it, we cannot refrain from saying, Buy this book, and keep it with your Bible for constant study, until you have thoroughly mastered, in your own experience, the 'secret' of which it tells. It will transform the dark days of your life, as it has transformed those of thousands before you, into days of heavenly light."—The Evangelist.

Studies of "The Man Christ Jesus." 6th thousand. Long 16mo, cloth $0.75

"The method of the book is simplicity itself. Conceived for the benefit of college students in the summer school at Northfield, given to them from the platform, and repeated again and again to other groups of students in this country and England, these chapters have been molded by the unuttered demands of many minds, and have a largeness of view which comes from a response to such demands and is compatible only with perfect simplicity, with an utter absence of subjectivity."—The Evangelist.

"In all the long catalogue of useful books published by Revell, I know of none more likely to do noble service than Dr. Sperry's two series of 'Confidential Talks with Young Men and Young Women.' These books treat of subjects the most delicate in an absolutely plain and fearless way, without that mischievous vagueness so often assumed by writers of such books—a prudery that aggravates by its half-suggestions whatever pruriency may be lurking in the mind of the reader."—Amos R. Wells in The Golden Rule.

The Soul-Winner; or, How to Lead Sinners to the Saviour. 3d edition. 12mo, cloth 1.25

"This commentary shows painstaking, honest, careful and discriminating exegesis. The aim has not been to read the author's individual views into the Apostle's words, but to state truly and faithfully the meaning of Paul's teaching, both logically and historically. He has done his work with much intelligence and conscientiousness. He employs a clear, beautiful and forcible style. He evinces a reverent spirit. While manifesting the alertness and thoroughness of the scholar, he exhibits the love and docility of the humble Christian. His commentary was not designed for the critic or the learned, though they can read it with profit, but for the ordinary English reader."—The Presbyterian.

¶Ruth Bergen's Limitations. A Modern Auto-da-Fe. 12mo, cloth..... .50

A well told tale that will greatly interest those who are concerned about the controversy that has been, and still is, raging between conservatives and liberals in the matter of Biblical criticism. The story not only purports to be, but manifestly is, the narration of true events; which adds greatly to its power and importance.

The plot is the discovery, development, and disaster of fundamental differences of conscientious convictions between two young persons affianced in marriage. Robert Craig, Bachelor of Arts and Student of Theology, stands for ultra-liberal views concerning Inspiration; and Ruth Bergen for ultra-conservative. His views come to her as a great surprise, and the light and almost flippant manner in which he winnows the Scriptures—every jot and tittle of which she has always viewed as inspired—deeply wounds and greatly excites her. The contest is too much for her, and serves to precipitate and aggravate a severe attack of illness, from which she dies. And as at the last, in a fit of delirium, she cries out with husky articulation, "They have taken away my Lord, and I know not where they have laid him!" the effect is tragic, and we lay the book down with the feeling that we have witnessed a modern auto-da-fe.

A COMPLETE LIST OF

MESSRS. ROBERTS BROTHERS'

Publications,

ALPHABETICALLY ARRANGED UNDER AUTHORS' NAMES AND TITLES.

1897.

THE WORMELEY EDITION.

LA COMÉDIE HUMAINE

OF

HONORÉ DE BALZAC.

Translated by KATHARINE PRESCOTT WORMELEY.

MESSRS. ROBERTS BROTHERS take pleasure in offering to the public a sumptuous edition of the Great Master's work, published in forty royal octavo volumes, including the memoirs, illustrated by two hundred and eighty original Goupil-gravures designed by many of the leading French artists, and printed on Ruisdael handmade paper, remarkably flexible and soft with antique finish, and bound in a handsome library style. The complete set is ready for delivery, anticipating every other edition in the market by some twelve months or more. It will be strictly limited to two hundred and fifty numbered sets.

Price, $5.00 per volume. Subscriptions will only be received for Complete Sets.

POINTS OF EXCELLENCE IN THE "WORMELEY EDITION."

TRANSLATION. It seems almost superfluous to expatiate upon the merits of Miss Wormeley's translation. Thousands of testimonials from the most competent English and American critics have been received by the publishers during the progress of this work. Positively no living person is so thoroughly competent as Miss Wormeley to render this work into an idiomatic and correct translation. Fifteen years of study, combined with an unrivalled ability as a French translator, have produced a work which will appeal to any fair-minded and scholarly person as being more desirable than a made-to-order translation at a few days' notice by immature and unskilled workers.

A faithful rendering of the author's ideas into English is the objective point to be reached. As a matter of fact, translation must partake of one element at least of art, or it has no right to anything but a commercial consideration. This is the element of the translator's strong spontaneous personal impression by his original. Any other sort of translation becomes chaff in the winds of time. We invite comparison between Miss Wormeley's and the so-called translations which are now being put before the public.

These translations of Balzac's works, enduring as they admittedly are, have greatly wrought their English popularization. That is owing to the translator's close and quick sympathy with the great author, as well as to her industrious skill and faithful painstaking in the task she originally set before herself to perform. The spirit of Balzac is, to all appearance, her spirit; and thus are maintained the flavor, the vigor, and the extreme delicacy and charm of the author.

The continuity of thought and method by one competent translator is to be desired rather than a droll patchwork of Balzac translated by several different persons.

ILLUSTRATIONS. Each volume will contain seven illustrations in Goupil-gravure, the impressions printed in monotint on vellum plate-paper, with replicas on India paper, harmonizing with the text paper. Twenty French artists have been employed to produce the original designs, under the general superintendence of the noted firm of Goupil & Co., Paris. Each artist has been delegated to illustrate the volume to which his individual talent is best suited, and they have entered into the work with the greatest enthusiasm and determination to make this a superlative work. The superiority of the French above all other artists in the drawing of the characters, scenes, costumes, and times of these Historical Romances is beyond dispute.

A novel and strong conception in the illustration which will appeal to the admiration of art connoisseurs is a careful portrayal of the principal characters in each book for a frontispiece.

PRINTING. Typographically this work will be a model of the printer's art. A clear handsome type, well set in an octavo page, wide margins, jet-black ink, printed with great care by John Wilson & Son, University Press, will be one of the characteristic features of this edition.

PAPER. A costly Dutch handmade paper has been chosen for the purpose of obtaining bulk, light weight, soft flexible texture, and great firmness, and is made specially for this edition. Every sheet will bear the water-mark monogram H. de B., forming a most acceptable and lasting tribute to the author's memory.

BINDING. A polished buckram cover, more durable than leather, slightly embellished, of one uniform and lasting color, gilt top, deckle edges, has been adopted as the most desirable binding for a work of this character. The back titles will form a complete index to the subjects in every volume, — a feature which no other edition has.

MEMOIR. From Miss Wormeley's long-continued, thorough, and successful labor in the translation of Balzac's works, she has naturally obtained a sympathetic knowledge of the man, the real man, which enables her to reconstruct for her readers his character, — noble, enthusiastic, suffering, struggling, misunderstood, disappointed, yet unconquerable. The result of Miss Wormeley's researches is a very satisfying story of a fascinating life, a revelation of a pure and ardent spirit, and a careful and critical estimate of a large contribution to the world's great literature. Many letters are included, showing the man in many moods. Estimates of Balzac's character and genius, from the writings of Gautier, Sainte-Beuve, George Sand, Taine, Champfleury, and others, add to the value of the book as a critical work. The Memoir seems in every way as complete as possible, and has the tragic interest of full, throbbing life. — A. H. F.

Carefully arranged lists of Balzac's books, giving the French titles and the translator's rendering into English, with date of publication and a full index, make it a valuable book for reference. The illustrations in this volume will be unique and personal. A spirited refutation of the base attack on the character of Balzac lately published is included in the Memoir. An Appendix contains a list of the several books in which the principal characters in "La Comédie Humaine" appear, and the translator's suggestions concerning the order in which the books can be read.

Circulars and full information will be sent by the Publishers,

The Renaissance Bindings.

MESSRS. ROBERTS BROTHERS offer a line of some of their most popular books, bound in full crushed Turkey morocco, of dainty colors, and decorated in a style which fully justifies the characteristic term "Renaissance," being a revival of the old English bindings in vogue some seventy or eighty years ago, which were adapted from various artistic designs used in the Middle Ages. The books are hand-finished in a chaste and beautiful manner, solid gold edges, rolled on the inside and outer edges of the covers. The books are issued at extremely low retail prices, considering the fine quality of workmanship.

AN AMERICAN TEXT-BOOK OF PHYSIOLOGY. Edited by WILLIAM H. HOWELL, PH. D., M. D., Professor of Physiology in the Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md. One handsome octavo volume of 1052 pages, fully illustrated. Prices: Cloth, $6.00 net; Sheep or Half-Morocco, $7.00 net.

This work is the most notable attempt yet made in America to combine in one volume the entire subject of Human Physiology by well-known teachers who have given especial study to that part of the subject upon which they write. The completed work represents the present status of the science of Physiology, particularly from the standpoint of the student of medicine and of the medical practitioner.

American teachers of physiology have not been altogether satisfied with the text-books at their disposal. The defects of most of the older books are that they have not kept pace with the rapid changes in modern physiology, while few if any of the newer books have been uniformly satisfactory in their treatment of all parts of this many-sided science. Indeed, the literature of experimental physiology is so great that it would seem to be almost impossible for any one teacher to keep thoroughly informed on all topics.

The collaboration of several teachers in the preparation of an elementary text-book of physiology is unusual, the almost invariable rule heretofore having been for a single author to write the entire book. One of the advantages to be derived from this collaboration method is that the more limited literature necessary for consultation by each author has enabled him to base his elementary account upon a comprehensive knowledge of the subject assigned to him; another, and perhaps the most important, advantage, is that the student gains the point of view of a number of teachers. In a measure he reaps the same benefit as would be obtained by following courses of instruction under different teachers. The different standpoints assumed, and the differences in emphasis laid upon the various lines of procedure, chemical, physical, and anatomical, should give the student a better insight into the methods of the science as it exists to-day. The work will also be found useful to many medical practitioners who may wish to keep in touch with the development of modern physiology.

The main divisions of the subject-matter are as follows: General Physiology of Muscle and Nerve—Secretion—Chemistry of Digestion and Nutrition—Movements of the Alimentary Canal, Bladder, and Ureter—Blood and Lymph—Circulation—Respiration—Animal Heat—Central Nervous System—Special Senses—Special Muscular Mechanisms—Reproduction—Chemistry of the Animal Body.

AN AMERICAN TEXT-BOOK OF APPLIED THERAPEUTICS. For the Use of Practitioners and Students. Edited by JAMES C. WILSON, M. D., Professor of the Practice of Medicine and of Clinical Medicine in the Jefferson Medical College. One handsome octavo volume of 1326 pages. Illustrated. Prices: Cloth, $7.00 net; Sheep or Half-Morocco, $8.00 net.

The arrangement of this volume has been based, so far as possible, upon modern pathologic doctrines, beginning with the intoxications and following with infections, diseases due to internal parasites, diseases of undetermined origin, and finally the disorders of the several bodily systems—digestive, respiratory, circulatory, renal, nervous, and cutaneous. It was thought proper to include also a consideration of the disorders of pregnancy.

The list of contributors comprises the names of many who have acquired distinction as practitioners and teachers of practice, of clinical medicine, and of the specialties.

The articles, with two exceptions, are the contributions of American writers. Written from the standpoint of the practitioner, the aim of the work is to facilitate the application of knowledge to the prevention, the cure, and the alleviation of disease. The endeavor throughout has been to conform to the title of the book—Applied Therapeutics—to indicate the course of treatment to be pursued at the bedside, rather than to name a list of drugs that have been used at one time or another.

While the scientific superiority and the practical desirability of the metric system of weights and measures is admitted, it has not been deemed best to discard entirely the older system of figures, so that both sets have been given where occasion demanded.

AN AMERICAN TEXT-BOOK OF OBSTETRICS. Edited by RICHARD C. NORRIS, M. D.; Art Editor, ROBERT L. DICKINSON, M. D. One handsome octavo volume of over 1000 pages, with nearly 900 colored and half-tone illustrations. Prices: Cloth, $7.00; Sheep or Half-Morocco, $8.00.

The advent of each successive volume of the series of the AMERICAN TEXT-BOOKS has been signalized by the most flattering comment from both the Press and the Profession. The high consideration received by these text-books, and their attainment to an authoritative position in current medical literature, have been matters of deep international interest, which finds its fullest expression in the demand for these publications from all parts of the civilized world.

In the preparation of the "AMERICAN TEXT-BOOK OF OBSTETRICS" the editor has called to his aid proficient collaborators whose professional prominence entitles them to recognition, and whose disquisitions exemplify Practical Obstetrics. While these writers were each assigned special themes for discussion, the correlation of the subject-matter is, nevertheless, such as ensures logical connection in treatment, the deductions of which thoroughly represent the latest advances in the science, and which elucidate the best modern methods of procedure.

The more conspicuous feature of the treatise is its wealth of illustrative matter. The production of the illustrations had been in progress for several years, under the personal supervision of Robert L. Dickinson, M. D., to whose artistic judgment and professional experience is due the most sumptuously illustrated work of the period. By means of the photographic art, combined with the skill of the artist and draughtsman, conventional illustration is superseded by rational methods of delineation.

Furthermore, the volume is a revelation as to the possibilities that may be reached in mechanical execution, through the unsparing hand of its publisher.

"At first glance we are overwhelmed by the magnitude of this work in several respects, viz.: First, by the size of the volume, then by the array of eminent teachers in this department who have taken part in its production, then by the profuseness and character of the illustrations, and last, but not least, the conciseness and clearness with which the text is rendered. This is an entirely new composition, embodying the highest knowledge of the art as it stands to-day by authors who occupy the front rank in their specialty, and there are many of them. We cannot turn over these pages without being struck by the superb illustrations which adorn so many of them. We are confident that this most practical work will find instant appreciation by practitioners as well as students."—New York Medical Times.

Permit me to say that your American Text-Book of Obstetrics is the most magnificent medical work that I have ever seen. I congratulate you and thank you for this superb work, which alone is sufficient to place you first in the ranks of medical publishers.

With profound respect I am sincerely yours,

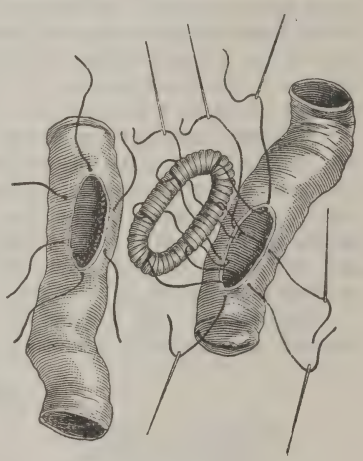
AN AMERICAN TEXT-BOOK OF SURGERY. Edited by WILLIAM W. KEEN, M. D., LL.D., and J. WILLIAM WHITE, M. D., PH. D. Forming one handsome royal-octavo volume of 1250 pages (10×7 inches), with 500 wood-cuts in text, and 37 colored and half-tone plates, many of them engraved from original photographs and drawings furnished by the authors. Prices: Cloth, $7.00; Sheep or Half-Morocco, $8.00 net.



SECOND EDITION, REVISED AND ENLARGED,

With a Section devoted to "The Use of the Röntgen Rays in Surgery."

The want of a text-book which could be used by the practitioner and at the same time be recommended to the medical student has been deeply felt, especially by teachers of surgery; hence, when it was suggested to a number of these that it would be well to unite in preparing a text-book of this description, great unanimity of opinion was found to exist, and the gentlemen below named gladly consented to join in its production.

Especial prominence has been given to Surgical Bacteriology, a feature which is believed to be unique in a surgical text-book in the English language. Asepsis and Antisepsis have received particular attention. The text is brought well up to date in such important branches as cerebral, spinal, intestinal, and pelvic surgery, the most important and newest operations in these departments being described and illustrated.

The text of the entire book has been submitted to all the authors for their mutual criticism and revision—an idea in book-making that is entirely new and original. The book as a whole, therefore, expresses on all the important surgical topics of the day the consensus of opinion of the eminent surgeons who have joined in its preparation.

Specimen Illustration (largely reduced).

One of the most attractive features of the book is its illustrations. Very many of them are original and faithful reproductions of photographs taken directly from patients or from specimens, and the modern improvements in the art of engraving have enabled the publisher to produce illustrations which it is believed are superior to those in any similar work.

"We reviewed the first volume of this work, and said: 'It is undoubtedly one of the best text-books on the practice of medicine which we possess.' A consideration of the second and last volume leads us to modify that verdict and to say that the completed work is, in our opinion, the BEST of its kind it has ever been our fortune to see. It is complete, thorough, accurate, and clear. It is well written, well arranged, well printed, well illustrated, and well bound. It is a model of what the modern text-book should be."—New York Medical Journal.

AN AMERICAN TEXT-BOOK OF THE DISEASES OF CHILDREN. By American Teachers. Edited by LOUIS STARR, M. D., assisted by THOMPSON S. WESTCOTT, M. D. In one handsome royal-8vo volume of 1190 pages, profusely illustrated with wood-cuts, half-tone and colored plates. Prices: Cloth, $7.00 net; Sheep or Half-Morocco, $8.00 net.

The plan of this work embraces a series of original articles written by some sixty well-known pædiatrists, representing collectively the teachings of the most prominent medical schools and colleges of America. The work is intended to be a PRACTICAL book, suitable for constant and handy reference by the practitioner and the advanced student.

One decided innovation is the large number of authors, nearly every article being contributed by a specialist in the line on which he writes. This, while entailing considerable labor upon the editors, has resulted in the publication of a work THOROUGHLY NEW AND ABREAST OF THE TIMES.

Especial attention has been given to the consideration of the latest accepted teaching upon the etiology, symptoms, pathology, diagnosis, and treatment of the disorders of children, with the introduction of many special formulæ and therapeutic procedures.

Special chapters embrace at unusual length the Diseases of the Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat, and the Skin; while the introductory chapters cover fully the important subjects of Diet, Hygiene, Exercise, Bathing, and the Chemistry of Food. Tracheotomy, Intubation, Circumcision, and such minor surgical procedures coming within the province of the medical practitioner, are carefully considered.

AN AMERICAN TEXT-BOOK OF GYNECOLOGY, MEDICAL AND SURGICAL, for the use of Students and Practitioners. Edited by J. M. BALDY, M. D. Forming a handsome royal-octavo volume, with 360 illustrations in text and 37 colored and half-tone plates. Prices: Cloth, $6.00 net; Sheep or Half-Morocco, $7.00 net.

In this volume all anatomical descriptions, excepting those essential to a clear understanding of the text, have been omitted, the illustrations being largely depended upon to elucidate the anatomy of the parts. This work, which is thoroughly practical in its teachings, is intended, as its title implies, to be a working text-book for physicians and students. A clear line of treatment has been laid down in every case, and although no attempt has been made to discuss mooted points, still the most important of these have been noted and explained. The operations recommended are fully illustrated, so that the reader, having a picture of the procedure described in the text under his eye, cannot fail to grasp the idea. All extraneous matter and discussions have been carefully excluded, the attempt being made to allow no unnecessary details to cumber the text. The subject-matter is brought up to date at every point, and the work is as nearly as possible the combined opinions of the ten specialists who figure as the authors.

Specimen Illustration.

The work is well illustrated throughout with wood-cuts, half-tone and colored plates, mostly selected from the authors' private collections.

MEDICAL DIAGNOSIS. By Dr. OSWALD VIERORDT, Professor of Medicine at the University of Heidelberg. Translated, with additions, from the Second Enlarged German Edition, with the author's permission, by FRANCIS H. STUART, A. M., M. D. Third and Revised Edition. In one handsome royal-octavo volume of 700 pages, 178 fine wood-cuts in text, many of which are in colors. Prices: Cloth, $4.00 net; Sheep or Half-Morocco, $5.00 net; Half-Russia, $5.50 net.

In this work, as in no other hitherto published, are given full and accurate explanations of the phenomena observed at the bedside. It is distinctly a clinical work by a master teacher, characterized by thoroughness, fulness, and accuracy. It is a mine of information upon the points that are so often passed over without explanation. Especial attention has been given to the germ-theory as a factor in the origin of disease.

This valuable work is now published in German, English, Russian, and Italian. The issue of a third American edition within two years indicates the favor with which it has been received by the profession.

"Rarely is a book published with which a reviewer can find so little fault as with the volume before us. All the chapters are full, and leave little to be desired by the reader. Each particular item in the consideration of an organ or apparatus, which is necessary to determine a diagnosis of any disease of that organ, is mentioned; nothing seems forgotten. The chapters on diseases of the circulatory and digestive apparatus and nervous system are especially full and valuable. Notwithstanding a few minor errors in translating, which are of small importance to the accuracy of the rest of the volume, the reviewer would repeat that the book is one of the best—probably, the best—which has fallen into his hands. An excellent and comprehensive index of nearly one hundred pages closes the volume."—University Medical Magazine, Philadelphia.

PATHOLOGY AND SURGICAL TREATMENT OF TUMORS.

By N. Senn, M. D., Ph. D., LL. D., Professor of Surgery and of Clinical Surgery, Rush Medical College; Professor of Surgery, Chicago Polyclinic; Attending Surgeon to Presbyterian Hospital; Surgeon-in-Chief, St. Joseph's Hospital, Chicago. 710 pages, 515 engravings, including full-page colored plates. Prices: Cloth, $6.00 net; Half-Morocco, $7.00 net.

Books specially devoted to this subject are few, and in our text-books and systems of surgery this part of surgical pathology is usually condensed to a degree incompatible with its scientific and clinical importance. The author spent many years in collecting the material for this work, and has taken great pains to present it in a manner that should prove useful as a text-book for the student, a work of reference for the busy practitioner, and a reliable, safe guide for the surgeon. The more difficult operations are fully described and illustrated. More than one hundred of the illustrations are original, while the remainder were selected from books and medical journals not readily accessible to the student and the general practitioner.

"The appearance of such a work is most opportune. . . . In design and execution the work is such as will appeal to every student who appreciates the logical examination of facts and the practical exemplification of well-digested clinical observation."—Medical Record, New York.

"The most exhaustive of any recent book in English on this subject. It is well illustrated, and will doubtless remain as the principal monograph on the subject in our language for some years. The book is handsomely illustrated and printed, ... and the author has given a notable and lasting contribution to surgery."—Journal of American Medical Association, Chicago.

SURGICAL PATHOLOGY AND THERAPEUTICS.

By John Collins Warren, M. D., LL. D., Professor of Surgery, Medical Department Harvard University; Surgeon to the Massachusetts General Hospital, etc. A handsome octavo volume of 832 pages, with 136 relief and lithographic illustrations, 33 of which are printed in colors, and all of which were drawn by William J. Kaula from original specimens. Prices: Cloth, $6.00 net; Half-Morocco, $7.00 net.

"The volume is for the bedside, the amphitheatre, and the ward. It deals with things not as we see them through the microscope alone, but as the practitioner sees their effect in his patients; not only as they appear in and affect culture-media, but also as they influence the human body; and, following up the demonstrations of the nature of diseases, the author points out their logical treatment" (New York Medical Journal). "Indeed, the volume may be termed a modern medical classic, for such is the position to which it has already risen" (Medical Age, Detroit), "and is the handsomest specimen of bookmaking * * * that has ever been issued from the American medical press" (American Journal of the Medical Sciences, Philadelphia).

Without Exception, the Illustrations are the Best ever Seen in a Work of this Kind.

"A most striking and very excellent feature of this book is its illustrations. Without exception, from the point of accuracy and artistic merit, they are the best ever seen in a work of this kind. * * * Many of those representing microscopic pictures are so perfect in their coloring and detail as almost to give the beholder the impression that he is looking down the barrel of a microscope at a well-mounted section."—Annals of Surgery, Philadelphia.

AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF SAMUEL D. GROSS, M. D., Emeritus Professor of Surgery in the Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia, with Reminiscences of His Times and Contemporaries. Edited by his Sons, SAMUEL W. GROSS, M. D., LL.D., late Professor of Principles of Surgery and of Clinical Surgery in the Jefferson Medical College, and A. HALLER GROSS, A. M., of the Philadelphia Bar. Preceded by a Memoir of Dr. Gross, by the late Austin Flint, M. D., LL.D. In two handsome volumes, each containing over 400 pages, demy 8vo, extra cloth, gilt tops, with fine Frontispiece engraved on steel. Price, $5.00 net.

This autobiography, which was continued by the late eminent surgeon until within three months before his death, contains a full and accurate history of his early struggles, trials, and subsequent successes, told in a singularly interesting and charming manner, and embraces short and graphic pen-portraits of many of the most distinguished men—surgeons, physicians, divines, lawyers, statesmen, scientists, etc.—with whom he was brought in contact in America and in Europe; the whole forming a retrospect of more than three-quarters of a century.

"Dr. Gross . . . was perhaps the most eminent exponent of medical science that America has yet produced. His Autobiography, related as it is with a fulness and completeness seldom to be found in such works, is an interesting and valuable book. He comments on many things, especially, of course, on MEDICAL MEN AND MEDICAL PRACTICE, in a very interesting way. Details of professional life have also much in them that will be new."—The Spectator, London, England.

THE PICTORIAL ATLAS OF SKIN DISEASES AND SYPHILITIC AFFECTIONS (American Edition). Translation from the French. Edited by J. J. PRINGLE, M. B., F. R. C. P., Assistant Physician to, and Physician to the department for Diseases of the Skin at, the Middlesex Hospital, London. Photo-lithochromes from the famous models of dermatological and syphilitic cases in the Museum of the Saint-Louis Hospital, Paris, with explanatory wood-cuts and text. In 12 Parts, at $3.00 per Part. Parts 1 to 8 now ready.

"The plates are beautifully executed."—JONATHAN HUTCHINSON, M. D. (London Hospital).

"I strongly recommend this Atlas. The plates are exceedingly well executed, and will be of great value to all studying dermatology."—STEPHEN MACKENZIE, M. D. (London Hospital).

"The plates in this Atlas are remarkably accurate and artistic reproductions of typical examples of skin disease. The work will be of great value to the practitioner and student."—WILLIAM ANDERSON, M. D. (St. Thomas Hospital).

"If the succeeding parts of this Atlas are to be similar to Part 1, now before us, we have no hesitation in cordially recommending it to the favorable notice of our readers as one of the finest dermatological atlases with which we are acquainted."—Glasgow Medical Journal, Aug., 1895.

"Of all the atlases of skin diseases which have been published in recent years, the present one promises to be of greatest interest and value, especially from the standpoint of the general practitioner."—American Medico-Surgical Bulletin, Feb. 22, 1896.

"The introduction of explanatory wood-cuts in the text is a novel and most important feature which greatly furthers the easier understanding of the excellent plates, than which nothing, we venture to say, has been seen better in point of correctness, beauty, and general merit."—New York Medical Journal, Feb. 15, 1896.

"An interesting feature of the Atlas is the descriptive text, which is written for each picture by the physician who treated the case or at whose instigation the models have been made. We predict for this truly beautiful work a large circulation in all parts of the medical world where the names St. Louis and Baretta have preceded it."—Medical Record, N. Y., Feb. 1, 1896.

PRACTICAL POINTS IN NURSING. For Nurses in Private Practice. By EMILY A. M. STONEY, Graduate of the Training-School for Nurses, Lawrence, Mass.; Superintendent of the Training-School for Nurses, Carney Hospital, South Boston, Mass. 456 pages, handsomely illustrated with 73 engravings in the text, and 9 colored and half-tone plates. Cloth. Price, $1.75 net.

In this volume the author explains, in popular language and in the shortest possible form, the entire range of private nursing as distinguished from hospital nursing, and the nurse is instructed how best to meet the various emergencies of medical and surgical cases when distant from medical or surgical aid or when thrown on her own resources.

An especially valuable feature of the work will be found in the directions to the nurse how to improvise everything ordinarily needed in the sick-room, where the embarrassment of the nurse, owing to the want of proper appliances, is frequently extreme.

The work has been logically divided into the following sections:

I. The Nurse: her responsibilities, qualifications, equipment, etc.
II. The Sick-Room: its selection, preparation, and management.
III. The Patient: duties of the nurse in medical, surgical, obstetric, and gynecologic cases.
IV. Nursing in Accidents and Emergencies.
V. Nursing in Special Medical Cases.
VI. Nursing of the New-born and Sick Children.
VII. Physiology and Descriptive Anatomy.

The APPENDIX contains much information in compact form that will be found of great value to the nurse, including Rules for Feeding the Sick; Recipes for Invalid Foods and Beverages; Tables of Weights and Measures; Table for Computing the Date of Labor; List of Abbreviations; Dose-List; and a full and complete Glossary of Medical Terms and Nursing Treatment.

"There are few books intended for non-professional readers which can be so cordially endorsed by a medical journal as can this one."—Therapeutic Gazette, Aug. 15, 1896.

"This is a well-written, eminently practical volume, which covers the entire range of private nursing as distinguished from hospital nursing, and instructs the nurse how best to meet the various emergencies which may arise and how to prepare everything ordinarily needed in the illness of her patient."—American Journal of Obstetrics and Diseases of Women and Children, Aug., 1896.

"It is a work that the physician can place in the hands of his private nurses with the assurance of benefit."—Ohio Medical Journal, Aug., 1896.

This book was originally published for the use of students, but its rapid absorption by the practitioner made it appear that a wider field had been reached. In this edition the author has added to his revision of the text a section setting forth the signs found in each of the diseases of the chest, thereby increasing its value to the general practitioner for post-graduate study.

SYLLABUS OF OBSTETRICAL LECTURES in the Medical Department, University of Pennsylvania. By RICHARD C. NORRIS, A. M., M. D., Demonstrator of Obstetrics in the University of Pennsylvania. Third edition, thoroughly revised and enlarged. Crown 8vo. Price, Cloth, interleaved for notes, $2.00 net.

"This work is so far superior to others on the same subject that we take pleasure in calling attention briefly to its excellent features. It covers the subject thoroughly, and will prove invaluable both to the student and the practitioner. The author has introduced a number of valuable hints which would only occur to one who was himself an experienced teacher of obstetrics. The subject-matter is clear, forcible, and modern. We are especially pleased with the portion devoted to the practical duties of the accoucheur, care of the child, etc. The paragraphs on antiseptics are admirable; there is no doubtful tone in the directions given. No details are regarded as unimportant; no minor matters omitted. We venture to say that even the old practitioner will find useful hints in this direction which he cannot afford to despise."—Medical Record.

SAUNDERS'

NEW AID SERIES OF MANUALS.

FOR

STUDENTS AND PRACTITIONERS.

MR. SAUNDERS is pleased to announce the successful issue of several volumes of his NEW AID SERIES OF MANUALS, which have received the most flattering commendations from Students and Practitioners and the Press. As publisher of the STANDARD SERIES OF QUESTION COMPENDS, and through intimate relations with leading members of the medical profession, Mr. Saunders has been enabled to study progressively the essential desiderata in practical "self-helps" for students and physicians.

This study has manifested that, while the published "Question Compends" earn the highest appreciation of students, whom they serve in reviewing their studies preparatory to examination, there is special need of thoroughly reliable handbooks on the leading branches of Medicine and Surgery, each subject being compactly and authoritatively written, and exhaustive in detail, without the introduction of cases and foreign subject-matter which so largely expand ordinary text-books.

The Saunders Aid Series will not merely be condensations from present literature, but will be ably written by well-known authors and practitioners, most of them being teachers in representative American Colleges. This new series, therefore, will form an admirable collection of advanced lectures, which will be invaluable aids to students in reading and in comprehending the contents of "recommended" works.

Each Manual will further be distinguished by the beauty of the new type; by the quality of the paper and printing; by the copious use of illustrations; by the attractive binding in cloth; and by the extremely low price at which they will be sold.

WITH

Students and Practitioners in every City of the United States and Canada.

THE REASON WHY

They are the advance guard of "Student's Helps"—that DO HELP; they are the leaders in their special line, well and authoritatively written by able men, who, as teachers in the large colleges, know exactly what is wanted by a student preparing for his examinations. The judgment exercised in the selection of authors is fully demonstrated by their professional elevation. Chosen from the ranks of Demonstrators, Quiz-masters, and Assistants, most of them have become Professors and Lecturers in their respective colleges.

Each book is of convenient size (5 × 7 inches), containing on an average 250 pages, profusely illustrated, and elegantly printed in clear, readable type, on fine paper.

The entire series, numbering twenty-three volumes, has been kept thoroughly revised and enlarged when necessary, many of them being in their fourth and fifth editions.

TO SUM UP.

Although there are numerous other Quizzes, Manuals, Aids, etc. in the market, none of them approach the "Blue Series of Question Compends;" and the claim is made for the following points of excellence:

1. Professional distinction and reputation of authors.
2. Conciseness, clearness, and soundness of treatment.
3. Size of type and quality of paper and binding.

JUST PUBLISHED.

A TEXT-BOOK OF MATERIA MEDICA, THERAPEUTICS, AND PHARMACOLOGY. By GEORGE F. BUTLER, PH. G., M. D., Professor of Materia Medica and of Clinical Medicine in the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Chicago; Professor of Materia Medica and Therapeutics, Northwestern University, Woman's Medical School, etc. 8vo, 858 pages. Illustrated. Prices: Cloth, $4.00 net; Sheep or Half-Morocco, $5.00 net

A clear, concise, and practical text-book, adapted for permanent reference no less than for the requirements of the class-room. The arrangement (embodying the synthetic classification of drugs based upon therapeutic affinities) is believed to be at once the most philosophical and rational, as well as that best calculated to engage the interest of those to whom the academic study of the subject is wont to offer no little perplexity.

Special attention has been given to the Pharmaceutical section, which is exceptionally lucid and complete.

LECTURES ON RENAL AND URINARY DISEASES. By ROBERT SAUNDBY, M. D. Edin., Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians, London, and of the Royal Medico-Chirurgical Society; Physician to the General Hospital; Consulting Physician to the Eye Hospital and to the Hospital for Diseases of Women; Professor of Medicine in Mason College, Birmingham, etc. 8vo, 434 pages, with numerous illustrations and 4 colored plates. Price, Cloth, $2.50 net.

In these Lectures, which are a re-issue in one volume of the author's well-known works on Bright's Disease and Diabetes, there is given, within a modest compass, a review of the present state of knowledge of these important affections, with such additions and suggestions as have resulted from the author's thirteen years' clinical and pathological study of the subjects. The lectures have been carefully revised and much new matter added to them. There has also been added a section dealing with "Miscellaneous Affections of the Kidney," making the book more complete as a work of reference.

ELEMENTARY BANDAGING AND SURGICAL DRESSING, with Directions concerning the Immediate Treatment of Cases of Emergency. For the use of Dressers and Nurses. By WALTER PYE, F. R. C. S., late Surgeon to St. Mary's Hospital, London. Small 12mo, with over 80 illustrations. Cloth, flexible covers. Price, 75 cents net.

This little book is chiefly a condensation of those portions of Pye's "Surgical Handicraft" which deal with bandaging, splinting, etc., and of those which treat of the management in the first instance of cases of emergency. Within its own limits, however, the book is complete, and it is hoped that it will prove extremely useful to students when they begin their work in the wards and casualty rooms, and useful also to surgical nurses and dressers.

"The directions are clear and the illustrations are good."—London Lancet.

"The author writes well, the diagrams are clear, and the book itself is small and portable, although the paper and type are good."—British Medical Journal.

"One of the most useful little works for dressers and nurses. The author truly says that it is 'a very little book,' but it is large in usefulness."—Chemist and Druggist.

ANOMALIES

AND

CURIOSITIES OF MEDICINE.

BY

GEORGE M. GOULD, M. D.,

AND

WALTER L. PYLE, M. D.

Several years of exhaustive research have been spent by the authors in the great medical libraries of the United States and Europe in collecting the material for this work. Medical literature of all ages and all languages has been carefully searched, as a glance at the Bibliographic Index will show. The facts, which will be of extreme value to the author and lecturer, have been arranged and annotated, and full reference footnotes given, indicating whence they have been obtained.

In view of the persistent and dominant interest in the anomalous and curious, a thorough and systematic collection of this kind (the first of which the authors have knowledge) must have its own peculiar sphere of usefulness.

As a complete and authoritative Book of Reference it will be of value not only to members of the medical profession, but to all persons interested in general scientific, sociologic, and medico-legal topics; in fact, the general interest of the subject and the dearth of any complete work upon it make this volume one of the most important literary innovations of the day.

An especially valuable feature of the book consists of the Indexing. Besides a complete and comprehensive General Index, containing numerous cross-references to the subjects discussed, and the names of the authors of the more important reports, there is a convenient Bibliographic Index and a Table of Contents.

The plan has been adopted of printing the topical headings in bold-face type, the reader being thereby enabled to tell at a glance the subject-matter of any particular paragraph or page.

Illustrations have been freely employed throughout the work, there being 165 relief cuts and 130 half-tones in the text, and 12 colored and half-tone full-page plates—a total of over 320 separate figures.

The careful rendering of the text and references, the wealth of illustrations, the mechanical skill represented in the typography, the printing, and the binding, combine to make this book one of the most attractive medical publications ever issued.

SAUNDERS'
American Year-Book of Medicine and Surgery

COLLECTED AND ARRANGED BY EMINENT AMERICAN SPECIALISTS AND TEACHERS, UNDER THE EDITORIAL CHARGE OF
GEORGE M. GOULD, M. D.

The knowledge gained is equivalent to a post-graduate course.

NOTWITHSTANDING the rapid multiplication of medical and surgical works, still these publications fail to meet fully the requirements of the general physician, inasmuch as he feels the need of something more than mere text-books of well-known principles of medical science. Mr. Saunders has long been impressed with this fact, which is confirmed by the unanimity of expression from the profession at large, as indicated by advices from his large corps of canvassers.

This deficiency would best be met by current journalistic literature, but most practitioners have scant access to this almost unlimited source of information, and the busy practiser has but little time to search out in periodicals the many interesting cases, whose study would doubtless be of inestimable value in his practice. Therefore, a work which places before the physician in convenient form an epitomization of this literature by persons competent to pronounce upon

The Value of a Discovery or of a Method of Treatment cannot but command his highest appreciation. It is this critical and judicial function that will be assumed by the Editorial staff of the "American Year-Book of Medicine and Surgery."

It is the special purpose of the Editor, whose experience peculiarly qualifies him for the preparation of this work, not only to review the contributions to American journals, but also the methods and discoveries reported in the leading medical journals of Europe, thus enlarging the survey and making the work characteristically international. These reviews will not simply be a series of undigested abstracts indiscriminately run together, nor will they be retrospective of "news" one or two years old, but the treatment presented will be synthetic and dogmatic, and will include only what is new. Moreover, through expert condensation by experienced writers, these discussions will be Comprised in a Single Volume of about 1200 Pages.

The work will be replete with original and selected illustrations skilfully reproduced, for the most part, in Mr. Saunders' own studios established for the purpose, thus ensuring accuracy in delineation, affording efficient aids to a right comprehension of the text, and adding to the attractiveness of the volume.

INTERNATIONAL CRITICAL COMMENTARY on the Holy Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments. Issued under the editorship of Prof. C. A. BRIGGS, D.D., in America, and Prof. S. R. DRIVER and Rev. ALFRED PLUMMER, D.D., in Great Britain.

This Commentary is international and inter-confessional, and is free from polemical and ecclesiastical bias. It is based upon a thorough critical study of the original texts of the Bible, and upon critical methods of interpretation. It is designed chiefly for students and clergymen, and will be written in a compact style. Historical and Archaeological questions, as well as questions of Biblical Theology, are included in the plan of the Commentary, but not Practical or Homiletical Exegesis. The volumes constitute a uniform series.
